dual-meet season March 19 with a second match against Washington State in Pullman.

Ducks play in tourney televised on ESPN

The Oregon men's golf team heads to Santa Cruz, Ariz., this weekend for the 18-team Western Collegiate, a tournament that will be nationally televised on ESPN.

The tournament will include such strong teams as San Jose, Fresno State, Kansas and Stanford. The Ducks six-man traveling squad will consist of Jeff Barney, Andrew Tredway, J.J. Astorquia, Adrian Burtner, Jason Mattaini and Derek Crookrey.

The Ducks had a strong outing at the Southwestern Intercollegiate in March, and Nosler believes that outing will help the team down the stretch.

"We played really good against some great teams at USC," Nosler said, adding that his young Oregon squad has really stepped it up of late.

Ducks host UW, WSU for weekend tourney

After road trips to California and Arizona, Oregon's women's tennis team will play four straight matches beginning this weekend when Washington and Washington State travel to Eugene.

Oregon will take on the Huskies for the second time this season. On Feb. 9 Washington squeaked by Oregon 5-4 in Seattle.

"We are excited to play at home," head coach Wade Judy said. "It will be a good chance for us to beat Washington. We hope we can improve from last match [against Washington]. I think we have improved as a team from the last meeting."

For the first time this season the Ducks will take on Washington State.

"They are a very deep team at singles and doubles," Judy said. "They are very improved mainly through recruiting. We can beat them if we all show up and play."

Oregon will finish out its home stand with two matches against Eastern Washington on Tuesday and Portland on Friday. The Ducks will end their

The Oregon Club Sports sailing team will head south for the 12-16 team Saint Francis Regatta in San Francisco on Saturday and Sunday.

Oregon will send four team members and one boat to compete in the race. Washington and Western Washington are two teams from the west coast that will be at the race.

Conditions for the race will not be something that the Ducks are used to.

"The air is heavy and the waves and current are strong [in San Francisco]," coach Dan Winchester said. "We are used to light air and flat water."

Five women's volleyball teams will be in town this Saturday for a tournament hosted by Oregon's Club Sports women's volleyball team.

"Mazzi's" from Lane Community College, "Baggs" from Springfield, "No Dinx" from Corvallis, "Fade to Gray" and "Chaos" from Portland and Oregon will all be competing this weekend. Round robin play will begin Saturday morning followed by bracket play in the afternoon.

The Oregon Club Sports taekwon do team will compete in the state championships this weekend at Portland State. Oregon's Brian York and John Drath should be in contention for a national bid, York said.

Oregon Club Sports Crew

competed in the San Diego Crew Classic March 30 and 31. The Ducks entered three of their women's boats in the regatta (Varsity Eight, Lightweight Varsity Four and Novice Eight).

The Novice Eight notched a first place finish in the petite final, finishing ninth out of 21 boats overall.

Despite colliding with another boat and coming to a dead stop, the strong Varsity Eight boat finished 12th overall in the petite finals. Lightweight Four did not fare so well, getting disqualified for double false starts.

The team travels to Corvallis for the Corvallis regatta this weekend.

Oregon's Club Sport Footbag team will host the first ever U of O Footbag Tournament this weekend on the Education Field behind the Knight Library. The event will take place all day Saturday and Sunday.

Footbag players from Oregon, Washington and California will compete in three events: footbag net, footbag golf and freestyle.
