INDEX

Editorial	2
News	4
Sports	9
Classifieds	10
Horoscope	10

TODAY

Second installment of tuition is due. (1/3 of assessed tuition, plus any current and pastdue balance)

INSIDE

Students can look to Duck's village, near Autzen Stadium, for affordable housing

Oregon's Bobby Braswell was hired as Cal State-Northridge's head basketball coach

Cloudy, chance of rain. High 63. Low 35.

University of Oregon Eugene, Oregon

An independent newspaper Volume 97, Issue 140

Security solutions proposed

■ EMU: Vandalism and theft problems have forced officials to look into improving security

By Brian Womack

Rising security concerns at the EMU have brought discussion about changing the locks or installing an ID-card security system in the building

The EMU Board will consider installing a computerized security system, at a cost of about $50,000, that allows only authorized card-holders to enter the building, said Dusty Miller, director of the EMU. Also, the board will consider replacing the locks and issuing new keys to authorized users at a cost of around $35,000 to $40,000.

The system could track who used which doors at what time, so thieves and vandals could be more easily identified. Of the EMU's nearly 80 doors, only a few would be accessible from the outside, Miller said.

Though the board has yet to make a decision, one board member expressed reservations about installing the security sys-

Zachary Kelton, a member of the board and ASUO vice president, said he wants to make sure the issues of security are balanced with access for students.

"I believe socurity is important, but I don't want access put at risk," Kelton said. "We have 24-hour radio programming and student groups that stay until 4 or 5 in the morning working on projects."

Yet, current access into the stu-

Turn to EMU, Page 5

LLERGY SEASO

Three phases to a basic allergic reaction

Pollen found in the air is the single biggest problem for allergy sufferers. For those who have seasonal allergies,

By Jennifer Schmitt

he spring sunshine and warm weather signal long days of activity outdoors. But when the rain stops and the sun comes out, so do all of the pol-lens that cause allergies, making spring a time of itchy, watery eyes and sinus congestion for some students. The Student Health Center is preparing for allergy season by meeting with stu-dents individually and in groups to teach allergy pre-vention techniques.

When the pollen count increases. practitioners aren't always able to see all the students suffering from allergies individually. To compensate, the Health Center created a new pro-gram last year consisting of gram last year consisting of a group presentation with an emphasis on education and treatment options.

During peak allergy sea-son, a practitioner and a nurse meet with as many as

Tum to ALLERGIES, Page 6

PHASE 1 A ragweed pollen will be our example. Antibodies and mast cells are both natural human body

Once the body realizes it has an intruder, the antibodies search out human mast cells.

defense mechanisms.

your body sees pollen as an enemy.

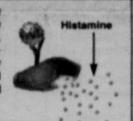

dast cell

PHASE 3

PHASE 2

Finally, when the pollen comes in contact with the antibodies and mast cells, the mast cells release histamine which causes allergy symptoms such as nasal congestion, runny nose and

STUDENT HEALTH CENTER PHARMACY PACKETS

The Student Health Center has created packets of items for $9 that will help most students suffering from seasonal allerg Instructions and tip sheet included in packet. Also included are:

- 1 dust mask
- 1 pack Kleneex tissues 1 box Opcon-A antihist-
- amine eye drops 24 Dimetapp tablets (other medication available)

Until the medication begins to

For relief of runny nose, sneezing, nasal and sinus congestion and itchy, congestion water eyes

TIPS & HELP

A few tips from the Health Center's tip sheet. A full list available with the packet.

- Shower at night and shampoo hair (removes pollen).
- Wash bed linens often. Keep window closed, especially while sleeping.

Allergy/Asthma Clinic Phone: 246-2770 Location: UO Student Health Center, Area C Hours: M,W,H,F, 8 a.m.- 4:30 p.m. and U 9 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

Photos by EN MIN CHANG; Graphics and Design by MATT GARTON/Eme

TUESDAY: TODAY:

Publicizing the THURSDAY:

Where your money is going FRIDAY:

Looking at this year's ASUO

Despite difficulty publicizing, turn-out best ever

ASU0: Elections took place early this year, creating the publicizing problems

The recent campus elections attracted 16 percent of the University's students to the polls.

But this represents the largest turn-out ever, said Brandon Smith, a voter education coordinator with the ASUO Elections Board.

"It's my opinion that part of that was due to the shortened campaign," he said. "The shortened length actually improved the way the campaign was run.

The elections took place in early April this year, although they are usually run at the end of the month. The decision to change the dates was mostly for the benefit of the president and vicepresident, Smith said.

When people are elected in late April they don't actually take office until May," he said. He explained that this does not give the elected officers adequate time to make the transition.

However, the Elections Board also had to deal with a compressed publicity calendar, Smith said. Because the elections were held in early April, advertising the campaigns had to occur earlier than usual.

"Our deadlines fell in the middle of spring break," Smith said. "It affected the amount of time to campaign. Most of our real advertising came at the end of spring break.

This had an effect on the quality of the publicity, Smith said. Many event times were listed incorrectly and a Candidates Fair was canceled because there "was not a whole lot of interest," he

"Part of [the publicity mistakes] was miscommunication on the part of the Elections Board,' he said. "We tentatively scheduled a bunch of things ahead of time, and sometimes things would change. Most of our problems were like a half-hour off."

The board also struggled with scheduling concerns, Smith said. The Washburn/Sunada ticket reserved "the entire campus" for their lawn stakes after some scheduling confusion, he explained.

"Scheduling has a whole system in place for

Turn to ASUO, Page 5