MOVING GUIDE

Do's and Don'ts for Safe Packing

• DO label the contents on the outside of every box. If possible, note which room the box should go to. Mark fragile boxes on every side.

• DO leave clothes in dresser drawers.

• DO use linens and towels to cushion fragile items.

• DO pack record albums on end to prevent warping.

• DO use about four inches of crumpled paper in the bottom of every box loaded with fragile items. Wrap each item individually and add paper cushioning around it.

• DO wrap plates, saucers and china individually, then bundle in groups of three or four. Stand them on end in the carton; never lay them flat.

• DO wrap cups and glasses individually and pack them rim-down in the box. If items are particularly delicate, pack one box inside another.

• DO remember to tape down the arm of your stereo turntable.

• DO check to see that caps are secure on toiletries and medicines.

• DO purge your closets and library before moving. Draw a floor plan of your new home. Any furniture that won't fit should be given to friends or donated to charity; you don't need a finished attic.

• DO investigate the cost of mailing books if you have a large library. Postal book rates may be cheaper than moving company rates.

• DON'T pack any flammable materials or aerosol products, including hair spray, shaving cream, deodorant, insecticides, cleaning products, spray paint, nail-polish remover, bleach, lighter fluid, and motor oil. These combustible items can explode under extreme heat.

• DON'T use newspaper to wrap fine china and other items that can't be easily cleaned off. Newspaper ink smears easily. Look into buying blank newsprint.
