

Lecture series comes to campus

The Department of Philosophy, the Center for the Study of Women in Philosophy and the Humanities Center are sponsoring lectures in the series "Feminist Epistemologies" throughout the month of July. They are as follows:

■ Tuesday, July 9: "Empiricism without dogmas: Toward a more naturalized philosophy of science," presented by Lynn Hankinson Nelson of Rowan College, New Jersey

■ Monday, July 22: "Statement of fact: Whose? Where? When?" presented by Lorraine Code of York University

■ Thursday, July 25: "Gender and Scientific Knowledge: Multicultural and global issues," presented by Sandra Harding of UCLA

All lectures will take place at 3:30 in Gilbert 238. For more information, call 346-1547

Increase: Internet access expensive

Although the price of a regular, multiple room for the full academic year will rise from $3,949 to $4,342, Tendick said he did not hear any complaints from students when the new budget was presented to the Residence Hall Governance Council.

"We were surprised," he said. "Students seemed to understand what the needs were."

"It's a one-shot deal to put the hardware in place. And this will directly benefit the students."

There is no opposition that I am aware of."

Fireworks: Stadium to launch displays

The Fairground gates will open at 4 p.m. for the 50th Annual Eugene Active 20-30 Club Fireworks Show. Events such as free ice skating, 3-on-3 basketball and a basketball shot-booth will run from 4 until 9. There will be activities for kids between 5 and 6:30 and several different concerts to enjoy throughout the evening. People will be able to purchase food at an all-American food court, and beer will be available at the "Red, White and Brews" microbrewery area. No food, alcohol or fireworks can be brought into the Fairgrounds.

Admission is $2 for adults and $1 for children under 12. Parking is $3.50. For more information, call 687-4292.
