Budget: Changes could be implemented in 1997

A shortfall in lottery funding prevented the board from implementing a tuition freeze in the coming scholastic year. Undergraduate residents will be paying between 4 and 5 percent more for tuition in the coming school year. However, if the 1997-99 plan passes, students can look forward to a freeze in 1997.
"We'll need to wait and let the process carry itself through," State System Budget Director Dave Quenzer said. "The Board is going in with the statement that we need to freeze tuition. Our whole emphasis is to raise access to higher education. One point of that is making it more affordable."

This year's tuition is 80 percent higher than it was six years ago.

The 1997-99 request will be submitted to the Governor in September. Quenzer said Kitzhaber will come to a decision some time in November or December. From there the budget will be passed on to the Legislature. Quenzer said a final decision will be made in June of 1997.
