Campground shooter turns himself in

1 A man accused of killing someone in a dispute about loud music at a campground has turned himself in to state police.

Edward Paul Leroy, 48, was booked into the Lane County Jail Tuesday on a charge of first-degree manslaughter with a firearm, state police Sgt. Mike Houlihan said.

Leroy is accused of killing Donald Kurtis Widener, 39, of Rochester, Wash., who was celebrating his 11-year-old daughter's birthday with other relatives at a campsite near the Cougar Reservoir east of Springfield when the shooting occurred.

Six Muslims confess to Saudi bombing

2 DUBAI, United Arab Emirates — Six Muslim militants have confessed to the truck bombing that killed 19 U.S. servicemen in Saudi Arabia, a Saudi opposition figure said Wednesday, but he predicted it would be weeks before the authorities announce the details.

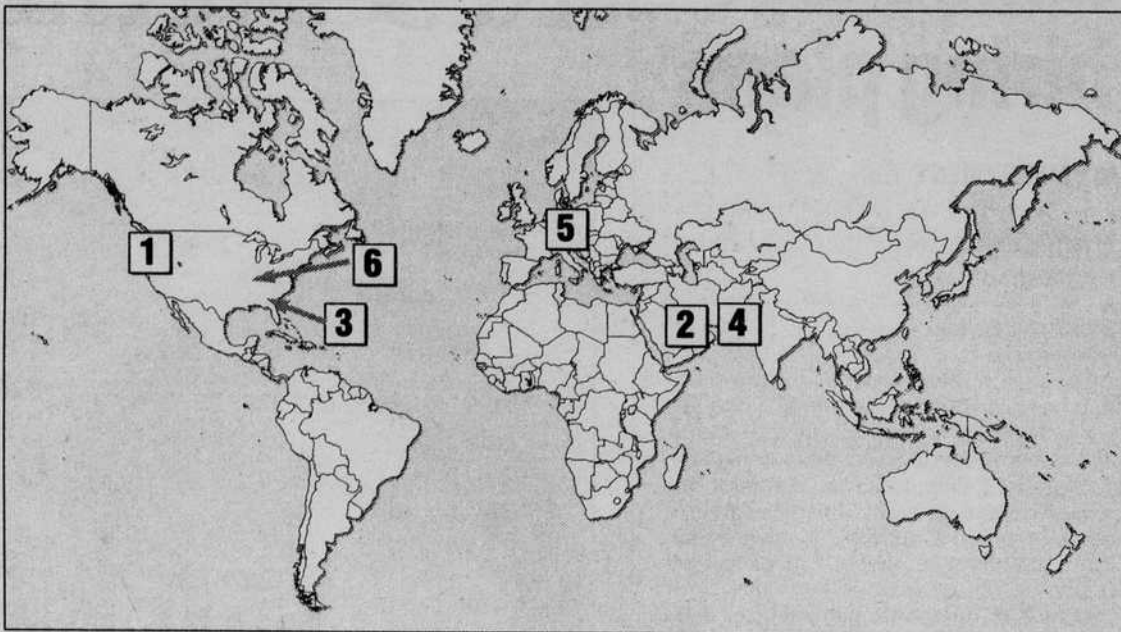

The U.S. Embassy and Saudi officials in the kingdom refused to comment Wednesday on the report by a Saudi opposition group and have released no details on the inquiry into the June 25 blast.

Suspect's lawyer convinced FBI has wrong man

3 ATLANTA — The FBI ought to be convinced by now it has the wrong man in the Olympic park bombing, Richard Jewell's lawyer said Wednesday, two weeks after the hero security guard emerged as a suspect.

"They must know. Do you know anybody in your experience that would be smart enough to do this and withstand this kind of scrutiny?" Watson Bryant said. "I'm not. I don't think Richard is either."

FBI spokesman Jay Spadafore did not immediately return a call for comment.

Worshippers killed during celebration

4 KARACHI, Pakistan — Gunmen opened fire Wednesday on Sunni Muslims gathered outside a mosque to celebrate Pakistan's Independence Day, killing 11 worshippers and wounding nine.

There was no immediate claim of responsibility, but police Superintendent Din Mohammed Baluch said the attack was religiously motivated. Other police officials said it was apparently to avenge the shooting deaths last week of two prominent Shiite Muslim leaders in eastern Punjab province.

Witnesses said about 200 people had gathered outside the New Town mosque for an Independence Day procession when the attack began.

American neo-Nazi may get five years

5 HAMBURG, Germany — A prosecutor has recommended a five-year prison term for Gary Lauck, an American neo-Nazi charged with inciting racial hatred, defaming Jews and distributing illegal material in Germany.

In his closing arguments Wednesday, prosecutor Bernd Mauruschat said Lauck, 43, of Lincoln, Neb., remained unrepentant throughout his three-month trial and should not be dismissed as a harmless eccentric who praises Adolf Hitler and denies the Holocaust took place.

"Lauck turned many young people against democracy," said Mauruschat. He said Lauck was motivated by profound anti-Semitism and honor for Hitler.

Church calls for boycott of Disney

6 SPRINGFIELD, Mo. — The Assemblies of God, a promoter of the Walt Disney Co. for 25 years, called on its 2.5 million members Wednesday to boycott Disney for "abandoning the commitment to strong moral values."

In urging its members not see Disney movies, visit Disney theme parks or buy its other products, the Pentecostal denomination became the third religious group to criticize the company in recent months.

The Assemblies criticized Disney's Orlando, Fla., theme park, which has been the site of a Gay and Lesbian Day for several years. Though Disney does not sponsor the event, the church said it should have warned families.
