

Hansen: Eugene fans can't stay with one team

we like to go with the flow of the rest of the country as much as we like expansion and progress.

I would venture to say that not even half of the fans who were decked out in drab green and gold clothing with big, obnoxious chunks of Styrofoam cheese on their heads, drinking Miller Genuine Draft (of course) at 9 a.m. Sunday morning at the local sports bar that promises to televise every Packer game, have ever been to the state of Wisconsin.

But now that I think about it, maybe this is a true connection because there really are some striking similarities between the two states.

For instance, both states had powerful senators that became national embarrassments: Joseph McCarthy from Wisconsin and Bob Packwood from Oregon. Wisconsin has Jeffrey Dahmer, Oregon has Tanya Harding. Both have big cities that are known for brewing beer and smaller cities known for being liberal college towns.

This could be a real breakthrough for this state. Instead of having to cheer for the pitiful Seahawks or losing sleep over cheering for a team that comes from California, fans in Eugene have a team they can feel good about cheering and at the same time feel some sort of connection to. The biggest bonus is, at the moment, the Packers are a pretty good football team.

But that brings us back to the beginning. What happens when the Packers fall back into another 25-year slump?

Actually what does it matter, by that time most of the new Green Bay fan base will have jumped onto another bandwagon heading for another town.

Indianapolis, anyone?

Outdoors: OP offers opportunity

The program is casual and any student can initiate most trips. If you feel like hiking and you want to go with a group but no trip is scheduled, you can organize it. The only exception is river rafting, which requires trip initiators to go through a clinic to be trained. But like any other trip, the Outdoor Program supplies the equipment and the trip members share all costs.

Although trips can fill up quickly, the best way to get on them is to stop by the resource center at least once a week. You can also get on OP's mailing list for its newsletter by giving them your name and address at Room 37 in the EMU or via either e-mail (dgeiger@darkwing.uoregon.edu) or the program's webpage (<http://darkwing.uoregon.edu/~opwww>).

If you came to the University to experience nature, the Outdoor Program is for you.

Offer expires October 11, 1996. No payment of interest or principal will be required for 90 days. Interest accruing during this 90-day period will be added to the principal and will bear interest, which will be included in the repayment schedule. For example, the month of May 1996 had an interest rate of 12.15% with an Annual Percentage Rate (APR) of 13.93%. A monthly payment of $60.28 for the Power Mac 7600/132 system is an estimate based on a total loan amount of $3,510.64, which includes a sample purchase price of $3,298 and a 6% loan origination fee. Interest is variable based on the Prime Rate as reported on the 5th business day of the month in The Wall Street Journal, plus a spread of 3.9%. Monthly payment and APR shown assumes deferral of principal and does not include state or local sales tax. The Apple Computer Loan has an 8-year loan term with no prepayment penalty and is subject to credit approval. Monthly payments may vary depending on actual computer system prices, total loan amounts, state and local sales taxes and a change in the monthly variable interest rate. ©1996 Apple Computer, Inc.
