FALL FILM SERIES

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 23RD

SHALLOW GRAVE

First time director Danny Boyle brilliantly directs this thriller of three roommates who voyage into the domain of immortality. Kerry Fox, Chris Eccleston, and Ewan McGregor wake up one morning to find that their flatmate has committed suicide, leaving behind a suitcase full of cash for the roomies to fight over. From there, director Boyle paints a colorful portrait of three young urban professionals trapped by their own greed, paranoia, and backstabbing ways.
180 PLC, 8:00pm $2 students, $3 general public

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 6TH

LOLA

Jacques Demy would go on to make such champagne musicals as Umbrellas of Cherbourg and Young Girls of Rochefort. It's a tribute to the triumphant lyricism of Jacques Demy's first film that you tend to remember LOLA as a musical even though it's not. Anouk Aimee glows—in Raoul Coutard's morning-fresh b/w FranScope cinematography—as a cabaret singer in a seaside town. Romanced by an American sailor (among others), she remains true to the local lad who wooed, won, and then left her slightly pregnant, some seven years earlier. Could he be the tall gent in the big white Caddy who keeps winking in and out of frame, a happy ending that might happen in the movie that is Lola's magical life?
180 PLC, 8:00pm $2 students, $3 general public

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 20TH

DELICATESSEN

Acclaimed French filmmakers Jean-Pierre Jeunet and Marc Caro present a most unusual comedy about a bizarre and desperate Parisian butcher who discovers a rather inventive solution to a meat shortage in the area. A talented cast of French performers star in this hilarious farce that's sure to sustain your laughter from beginning to end.
