University: Activities include a duck party

Activities included a homecoming duck party, which included dancing and raffle prizes; a historical campus tour with University archivist Keith Richard; a Saturday evening activity for parents and students to relax and enjoy bingo, miniature golf, prizes and food; and a pep rally with cheerleaders and music to kick off homecoming.

But SAA members said the most difficult challenge wasn't getting parents to participate. It was getting their students to participate.

"The hardest part is finding activities that will interest students," said Tatsumi.

Although finding events to interest students was a challenge, overall participation was high for the weekend, Parents' Weekend Chairwoman Kari Poujade said.

"It [Homecoming/Parent Weekend] has been really good," Tatsumi said. "I think it's been improved since last year. There's a lot more spirit and participation in the events."

About 400 parents signed up to take part in the weekend and about 650 football tickets were set aside for Saturday's game.

"We had a lot of fun going to the football game and [Saturday night's Parents' Night]," said Mary Remiyac, mother of University student Katie Remiyac. "We've enjoyed spending time with our daughter."

The weekend gave the members of SAA a chance to make students more familiar with their group, Poujade said.

"I would stress, that if one person had fun, then it was worth it," Tatsumi said.
