Skylight Cafe changes menu

Instead of Asian noodles, the cafe now serves soup, salad and Italian pasta

By Nikki Okimoto
Freelance Reporter

There is a place on campus that serves quick, inexpensive and delicious Italian food. No, it's not a new restaurant on 13th Avenue. This great food is available right in the EMU at the Skylight Cafe.

To many, the Skylight area on the third floor of the EMU is just a great place to study, with plenty of tables and nice natural lighting from the large windows and skylights. But the enticing smell of garlic and spices coming from the Skylight Cafe is starting to attract the regular studying crowd to the new menu.

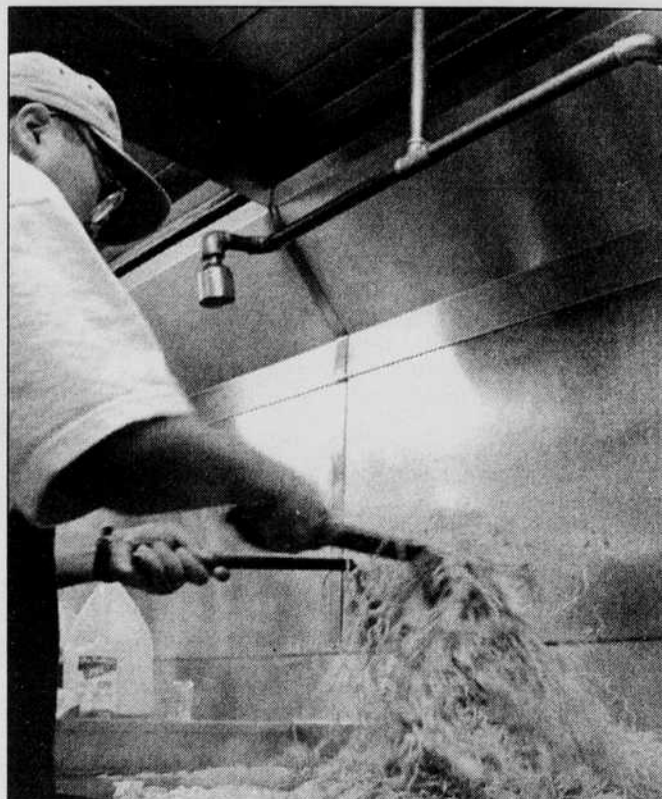

Last year, the Skylight offered pretty decent Chinese and Japanese-style noodles. It was one of the best-kept secrets in the EMU.

This year, the Skylight has changed its menu and specializes in Italian-style pasta, soups and fresh tossed salads. It still seems to be one of the best-kept secrets in the EMU.

The Skylight Cafe offers two different kinds of soup each day. You can get soup in a regular bowl, but the sourdough bread bowl is the best way to enjoy the fresh soup.

The Skylight also offers tossed-to-order salads with your choice of vegetables only, meat toppings or the specialty of the day. Tossed-to-order means that picky eaters can ask that ingredients they don't like be left out.

The cafe's specialty is its pasta. Each day, there are two kinds of pasta and two kinds of sauces to choose from. There is usually a red sauce and a cream sauce. The best deal is fresh-baked garlic bread and pasta topped with your choice of sauce for $3.50.

David Ye, a junior majoring in economics, prepares noodles to serve to customers at the EMU Skylight Cafe.

For those in need of a snack while studying, the Skylight Cafe has a fryer to cook up plain and seasoned french fries and mozzarella sticks. You can also pick up fresh bread from the Skylight's bakery.

The Skylight Cafe offers delicious Italian food with quick, cafeteria-style service. The employees are also very friendly.

When you need a place to study during finals week and could use a good carbo-boosting meal at the same time, head up to the Skylight Cafe in the EMU.
