The group plans to expand their newsletter which they plan to publish every term. This year APASU facilitated monthly workshops for students. They plan to use their newsletter next year to inform students of upcoming workshops. They also plan to produce a compilation yearbook. APASU plans to use the funds to create a reference library in their office to make Asian Pacific American literature available to the campus and the community. The group plans to showcase a

The Hong Kong Student Association (HKSA) received a 21 percent increase for their 1997-98 budget. The HKSA received $1,550 dollars from student incidental fees. The group requested

$1,806 dollars. The PFC allotted budget increases for programs and events while trimming the amount of money allowed for administrative expenses.

HKSA plans to introduce the Chinese culture to the University through movie nights. The group recently held a Hong Kong Fun Fair on campus. They requested an increase put on a Hong Kong Cultural Night next year. They also plan to bring in speakers for career seminars and political discussions. The group received $1,283 last year.

Parking garage opening celebrated

Eugene's first new downtown parking structure in over 15 years celebrated its grand opening today on the corner of Pearl St. and 10th Ave.

The garage was part of a project to replace the surface parking that was removed when construction started on the Lane Transit District transit station.

The structure is the first free-standing garage in the United States to use a new seismic construction method which allows the building to move without collapsing during an earthquake.

The new construction method was developed by Charles Pankow Builders three years ago in California after large earthquakes in Southern California caused serious building damage.

The parking garage construction cost $3.5 million. The parking structure has 264 car spaces on four levels and 27 bike cages. A monthly permit to use the parking garage costs $45 and daily use costs $.75 an hour.
