LOOK OUT — THE CREATIVE REGURGITATION MORE commonly known as the sequel is coming to a theater near you. This summer, the dinosaurs will seem even more lifelike, Batman will sport a Clooney cut and Sandra Bullock will have to prevent another speeding vehicle from careening off course. In the meantime, here are a few other sequel suggestions that have yet to be picked up for production.

Babe II: The Bacon Years — Babe's butt-kissing cuteness begins to grate on the other farm animals' nerves. No longer a spry young piglet, the hog can't keep the sheep in line. This leads to his tragic demise and some damn fine pork chops.

Pulpit Fiction — Samuel L. Jackson reprises his role as Jules, whose love for spouting off Bible verses leads him to the seminary. Quentin Tarantino casts himself as the Pope, and John Travolta plays an angel named Michael who's kind of rough around the edges.

Jerry Maguire: (Jerry's Kids) — Jerry ditches his "I care" philosophy when he realizes he can prostitute his adorable child co-star, Jonathan Lipnicki, to casting directors everywhere and keep most of the profit for himself. Everything's going fine until the cherub demands, "Show me the candy."

Stainblotting — Renton and his gang have cleaned up their act — literally. They're off drugs and in the laundry business after they discover a little club soda will remove excrement stains nicely.

The English Corpse — While the English patient was charred to a crisp from the plane explosion, Katharine's perfect corpse remains unscathed and as beautiful as ever after lying in a cave for a week or two. Her body becomes an exhibit in a traveling circus and is touted as "The woman who never decomposes."

Seventeen — After finding a string of teenage girls murdered, Brad Pitt and Morgan Freeman look for clues by poring through back issues of a popular teen fashion magazine.

Mankato — The Cohen brothers return to a frozen-over town in Minnesota, where some quirky little fellas are embroiled in a quirky little murder plot.

der plot. Does hilarity ensue, thanks to the actors' quirky Scandinavian-tinged accents? You betcha.

The Man in the Mirror Has Ten Faces — Barbra Streisand directs this biopic about the King of Pop's many excursions under the knife. Michael and Babs collaborate on a heartfelt song for the soundtrack.

Double Take

With student elections upon us, here are some college candidates who deserve a second look:

Best name for student body president: Jim Hendrix, Clemson U., S.C.

Best political party name: U. of Nebraska's KEG party

Best party platform: Kansas State U.'s Rafferty-Hock presidential ticket vowed to take all the oat pieces out of Lucky Charms and promised never to bring Tony Danza to campus as a guest lecturer.

The Rollerskate Party at the U. of Texas, Austin, called for longer recess, no more homework and massive pizza parties to be paid for using student government stipends.

Best write-in candidate: The Madagascar Revolutionary Council at Penn State U. encouraged students to write in THE COCK (a large replica of a penis and the MRC's "illustrious leader") for the Undergraduate Student Government ballot.
