

ON THE TUBE

Major League Baseball
Atlanta vs. Philadelphia,
TBS (3), 4:35 p.m.

SPORTS

DAILY TRIVIA

What player did Portland select over
Michael Jordan in the 1984 NBA draft?
See scoreboard for answer.

Tim Duncan, three trades highlight NBA draft

■ DEALS: The trades made the Spurs' selection of Duncan with the first-overall selection almost an afterthought

CHARLOTTE, N.C. — The NBA draft turned into a trade show Wednesday night, although the one blockbuster deal that the city of Chicago feared — a swap of Scottie Pippen — didn't materialize.

Three trades involving six first-round picks and eight veterans had been made by the time the first round ended, although the biggest of them — an eight-player trade between Philadelphia and New Jersey — was put on hold for a few days.

The swapping, the intrigue and the back-room dealing made the draft's opening moment — the selection of Wake Forest center Tim Duncan by the

San Antonio Spurs — almost seem like an afterthought just a couple hours after it happened.

A trade involving the second, seventh and 21st picks as well as five veterans was made by the 76ers and Nets, according to sources who spoke to The Associated Press on condition of anonymity.

The trade cannot be formally announced until a grievance is settled between the 76ers and Celtics regarding last week's now-dead trade of Michael Cage and Clarence Weatherspoon for Dino Radja, whom failed a physical Tuesday night.

The deal will send No. 2 pick Keith Van Horn, forwards Don MacLean and Lucious Harris and another player, perhaps Cage, to New Jersey for guard Jim Jackson, center Eric Montross and draft picks Tim Thomas (No. 7) and Anthony Parker (No. 21).

Milwaukee traded its first-round pick, Cincinnati forward Danny Fortson, along with veterans Johnny Newman and David Wood, to the Denver Nuggets for center Ervin Johnson.

In another deal, Portland and Dallas swapped picks Chris Antsey and

Turn to DEALS, Page 8

NBA DRAFT

1. San Antonio, Tim Duncan
2. Philadelphia, Keith Van Horn
3. Boston, Chauncey Billups
4. Vancouver, Antonio Daniels
5. Denver, Tony Battie
6. Boston, Ron Mercer
7. New Jersey, Tim Thomas
8. Golden State, Adonal Foyle
9. Toronto, Tracy McGrady
10. Milwaukee, Danny Fortson
11. Sacramento, Olivier Saint-Jean
12. Indiana, Austin Croshere
13. Cleveland, Derek Anderson
14. L.A. Clippers, Maurice Taylor

Ems return home Friday for homestand

If there was ever an offensive slump, the Eugene Emeralds have found it.

The Ems, who in the midst of a three-game losing streak, finish up their five-game series against the Boise Hawks (5-3) today and return to Eugene desperately in need of some wins.

In their eight games, through Tuesday, the Ems (2-6) had been shutout four times and outscored 67-29 over the eight games.

However, the Ems' lack of offense is not the only thing to blame. In the last two games, Emeralds' pitchers have given up 17 hits in each game and a combined 28 runs.

Friday the Ems will play their first home game since defeating Everett 8-7 last Saturday. The first-year Salem-Keizer Volcanoes will travel south to take on the last-place Ems at Civic Stadium at 7:05.

Salem-Keizer (3-5) has been getting the hitting while its pitching has not been strong.

SCOREBOARD

WEDNESDAY'S RESULTS

American League

NY Yankees.....	3	Anaheim.....	4
Detroit.....	1	Texas.....	5
Baltimore.....	9	Minnesota.....	POST-
Milwaukee.....	1	Cleveland.....	PONED
Kansas City.....	7	Boston.....	13
Chi. White Sox.....	8	Toronto.....	12
Oakland.....	4
Seattle.....	9

National League

Florida.....	7	Atlanta.....	14
Philadelphia.....	5	NY Mets.....	7
Pittsburgh.....	1	San Diego.....	7
Houston.....	5	San Francisco.....	14
Cincinnati.....	2	Chi. Cubs.....	1
Montreal.....	1	St. Louis.....	3
Colorado.....	0
Los Angeles.....	2

DAILY TRIVIA ANSWER

The Blazers selected Sam Bowie with the second overall pick, while Chicago took Jordan with the third pick overall.

SUMMER RECREATION

MICHAEL CRISP/Emerald

Laurelwood Golf Course, a nine-hole, par-35 course, offers a student discount with University identification.

Opportunity for all at Laurelwood

By Joel Hood
Freelance Sports Reporter

For the golfer on a student budget, Laurelwood Golf Course, located at 2700 Columbia, is the ideal place to hack your weekend away.

At only $7 for a round of nine holes during the week, Laurelwood is the student's answer to summer boredom.

■ Proximity to campus: 9. About five minutes by car or 15 minutes by foot.

■ Cost: 8. Seven dollars for nine holes during the week (with UO student identification), $9 on the weekend. The cost moves to $12 for 18 holes during the week and $14 on the weekend, not a bad rate for a par-35 course close to campus.

■ Course difficulty: 6 in dry conditions, 8 in wet. Laurelwood Golf Course is perhaps best known for two things: poor fairway drainage during rainy weather and notoriously slow play on the weekend.

The course's severe slopes create a fairway basin, which during the winter months can look like a flooded rice plain. Beginner or intermediate golfers may find it difficult to elevate the ball in rainy conditions. The wet fairways offer little resistance to the club head and therefore produces a lot of flubbed shots. In dry weather the course is manageable for a golfer of any ability as long as the ball is kept in the fairway.

■ Course conditions: 7. Again, this depends greatly on the month you chose to play Laurelwood. It is recommended that a beginning golfer stick to late spring or summer months. The greens are small but generally flat and will hold the ball on most fairway shots.

The greens are slow and take some getting used to, but the riddle is solved after the second hole or so. The putts rarely have much brake, so it can be a good course to try out a new putter.

■ Speed of play: 4. If your weekend golfer don't make any plans for the evening, you maybe just putting out on the 18th hole come dinner time. Laurelwood unfortunately attracts a lot of beginners whom haven't yet learned the speed of the game. If you get behind one of these foursomes, bring a flashlight and maybe a sleeping bag.

■ Best Holes: 5 and 7. Hole number five is a beautiful, long par-4 that can be reached in two with a straight drive or one hell of a nice approach shot. The seventh hole is a shorter par-4 that begs to be driven from the tee. The approach shot lifts to a scenic, elevated green surrounded by tall pines.

■ GOLF:

Course offers moderate challenge to golfers of all abilities during summer months

This is the first part of a Summer Recreation series that will appear every Thursday in the Emerald.