MLB PLAYOFFS

Giants drop Game 1 to Florida

Renteria hits two-out, bases-loaded single in the bottom of the ninth to lift the Marlins

The Associated Press

MIAMI — The first postseason game in Florida Marlins' history went down to the last pitch.

Edgar Renteria's two-out, bases-loaded single in the bottom of the ninth inning gave Florida a 2-1 victory over the San Francisco Giants in the opening game of their best-of-5 NL division series Tuesday.

The score was tied at 1 when Jeff Conine, the only Marlins starter who has been with the team since its first game in 1993, began the ninth with a single against Julian Tavaraz. Charles Johnson was hit by a pitch attempting to bunt.

After Roberto Hernandez relieved Tavaraz, Craig Counsell advanced both runners with a two-strike sacrifice, and Jim Eisenreich was intentionally walked to load the bases.

Devon White grounded into a forceout at the plate before Renteria singled to the opposite field on a 2-1 pitch. It was the Marlins' 25th win in their final at-bat, most in the majors.

Kevin Brown and Kirk Rueter

duled for six scoreless innings, then departed after seven with game 1-all. Both starters benefited from acrobatic defensive plays.

Dennis Cook pitched two perfect innings to earn the win for the wild-card Marlins. Tavaraz took the loss for the West champions.

Bill Mueller led off the top of the seventh with a home run to give San Francisco a 1-0 lead. Johnson's leadoff homer in the bottom of the seventh tied the score.

Giants slugger Barry Bonds went 1-for-4 with a double, raising his lifetime postseason average to .194. He flied out to end the top of the ninth.

The crowd of 42,167 was noisy but 2,500 shy of capacity, and there were several thousand empty seats when the game began.

The victory was welcome medicine for Florida's Jim Leyland, who managed his first playoff game in five years while battling walking pneumonia. Game 2 will be Wednesday, with Florida's Al Leiter pitching against Shawn Estes.

Brown, who no-hit the Giants in June, this time retired the first 14 batters and took a two-hitter into the seventh. Mueller, who hit seven home runs during the regular season, then pulled a 1-0 pitch into the second row of the right-field stands.

Johnson, who batted just .119 in the final 24 games of the regular season, hit a 2-2 pitch over the scoreboard. That was the only damage against Rueter, who allowed four hits and one run.

Brown also gave up four hits and one run, raising his lifetime ERA against the Giants to 0.71 in six starts. He allowed seven hits in three games against them this season, including a no-hitter in June.

Light rain fell in the early innings Tuesday, and it was the offenses that were under the weather.

Florida's Moises Alou went 0-for-4, and three times he was retired with two men on base. He batted with two on and one out in the eighth and grounded into a double play.

The Marlins threatened in the sixth when Renteria singled and Gary Sheffield walked, but center fielder Darryl Hamilton made a diving of Bobby Bonilla's liner, and Alou and Conine flied out.

The Marlins also threatened in the first when Sheffield walked with two outs and took third on Bonilla's single. Alou flied out to end the inning.

Bonds followed Mueller's homer with a double, but Brown retired the next three batters to keep the score 1-0.

Yankees take Cleveland 8 - 6

By Tom Withers

The Associated Press

NEW YORK (AP) — That is why they're the defending champions.

The New York Yankees, using some leftover magic from their 1996 World Series run, became the first team in postseason history to hit three consecutive home runs, rallying to beat the Cleveland Indians 8-6 Tuesday night in the opener of their AL playoff series.

Trailing Orel Hershisier 5-0 after the first inning and down 6-3 entering the sixth, New York got a game-tying, two-run shot by Tim Lincecum and solos by Derek Jeter and Paul O'Neill to stun the Indians and give a record crowd of 57,398 in Yankee Stadium a charge like it hadn't felt since last October.

"We felt if we could hold them there, we'd have a chance," Raines said. "Thank goodness we were able to get back in it.... We always think we have a chance to come back and win."

The night got off to an ominous start for the Yankees when longtime stadium announcer Bob Sheppard skipped over Torre during pregame introductions.

Then, New York fell behind by five runs to Hershisier, baseball's preeminent postseason pitcher, before chasing the right-hander in the fifth to 6-3.

Hershisier was replaced after giving up a single to Jeter. Lefty Alvin Morman came on and walked O'Neill to load the bases before Eric Plunk came in.

Plunk, who pitched three seasons for New York, got Bernie Williams on a foul pop and struck out Tino Martinez looking. Alomar ripped off his catcher's mask, pumped his arm and screamed toward Plunk in celebration.

That would be the last time the Indians would get too excited because the Yankees were about to make baseball history in the sixth.

With two outs, Rey Sanchez hit an RBI single off Plunk (0-1) and Raines followed with his homer off the upper deck in right to tie it 6-6. Jeter fell behind 0-2 before homering to left and O'Neill had almost the exact same at-bat against Paul Assenmacher, homering on an 0-2 pitch.

It was only the fourth time a team had hit three homers in an inning in postseason play.

Dave Cone, who no-hit the Indians for five innings last week but gave up five walks Tuesday, had said he would take an inning-by-inning approach. He had missed more than a month in the stretch because of tendinitis in his right shoulder.
