Delta Sigma Phi to clean up beach

Delta Sigma Phi will go looking for garbage this Sunday.

The fraternity hopes to attract 300 people to Honeyman State Park near Florence for its second annual Beach Clean-up.

Students interested in helping can meet at noon in the parking lot across from Prince Lucien Campbell Hall. The caravan will leave around 12:30 p.m. Volunteers are responsible for their own transportation.

Anyone is welcome to help. The clean-up is not an exclusively greek event.

The fraternity will provide garbage bags and gloves, but volunteers need to bring sack lunches.

Volunteers can also compete in a sand castle contest or play football and volleyball on the beach.

Call David Hall at 684-0035 for more information.

Two UO professors recognized as fellows

University professors Greg Retallack and Russell Lande have been recognized as fellows by two scientific organizations.

The American Association for the Advancement of Science will induct Retallack, a professor of geography and geology, as a fellow. The American Academy of Arts and Sciences will induct Lande, an ecology and biology professor, as a fellow.

United Way volunteer opportunities abound

The United Way Volunteer Connection has more than 700 volunteer opportunities available.

The organization needs evening van drivers for the St. Vincent dePaul Society. The job requires four hours per week and includes driving families to and from transitional housing classes.

LCOG Senior Meal Sites needs pumpkin pie makers for Nov. 19. The money raised will go to support programs for homebound or disabled elderly individuals.

Transportation volunteers are needed for Whiteaker Community dinners during November. The job includes coordinating and providing transportation for the annual Thanksgiving dinner.

The Pearl Buck Center needs trainers to assist disabled people with leisure activities. It would require three hours per week.

For more information, call the United Way Volunteer Connection at 741-6000.
