NEWS BRIEFS

OPB will broadcast financial aid program

The Oregon Association of Student Financial Aid Administration along with the Oregon State Scholarship Commission and Oregon Public Broadcasting will televise "Financial Aid for College" on Dec. 15.

The show will be hosted by Steve Amen, the host of Oregon Field Guide. Representatives from Oregon colleges will also be present, including Conney Alexander, director of financial aid at Southern Oregon University; Mike Johnson, assistant director of financial aid at Pacific University; Linda DeWhitt, director of financial aid at Lane Community College; and Mike Bennett, director of planned giving and gifts at Willamette University.

The panel will discuss all aspects of financial aid, including the application process and the types of financial aid available. They will also discuss scholarship opportunities.

A Spanish-speaking financial aid counselor also will be present.

The program will air Dec. 15 from 8 to 9 p.m. on OPB. A toll-free phone number will be open from 8 to 10 p.m. to answer any financial aid questions.

Students set prices at ASUO book swap

The ASUO will sponsor a book swap, starting this week and ending next term.

The swap is intended to get students a better deal on both sides of the book-buying and -selling process.

Students set the price they want for their course books this week and leave the books with the ASUO.

The ASUO will have a table in the EMU lobby starting today and running through Friday.

The books will be sold at student-marked prices at the beginning of next term. In theory, students can get more money this way than by selling their books back to the bookstore. Students may also get their books cheaper next term than if they buy from the bookstore.

Synagogue hosts annual Chanukah Fair

Temple Beth Israel's 15th annual Chanukah Fair will be held Dec. 14 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. at 2550 Portland St. in Eugene.

The fair will feature local and ethnic handmade crafts for sale, games and activities for children, live music, entertainment and ethnic food.

Admission is $3 for adults, $1.50 for children ages 2 to 12 and free for children under 2 years. For more information, call 485-7218.
