POLICE BEAT

OSU student charged with taking ornament

1 A 21-year-old male Oregon State University student was arrested and charged with criminal mischief Jan. 10 after a student patrol officer saw the suspect pull a hood ornament off a vehicle owned by the University of Oregon, according to a police report.

At approximately 11:45 p.m., the officer observed the man pull the hood ornament off a University-owned van parked in front of the residence at 1595 E. 15th Ave.

The man was detained by officers from the University's Office of Public Safety while still holding the ornament in his hand. When questioned by officers about the incident, he admitted to taking the ornament and said he was in Eugene visiting friends.

He was issued a $215 citation for criminal mischief and released.

Stolen items returned to fraternity member

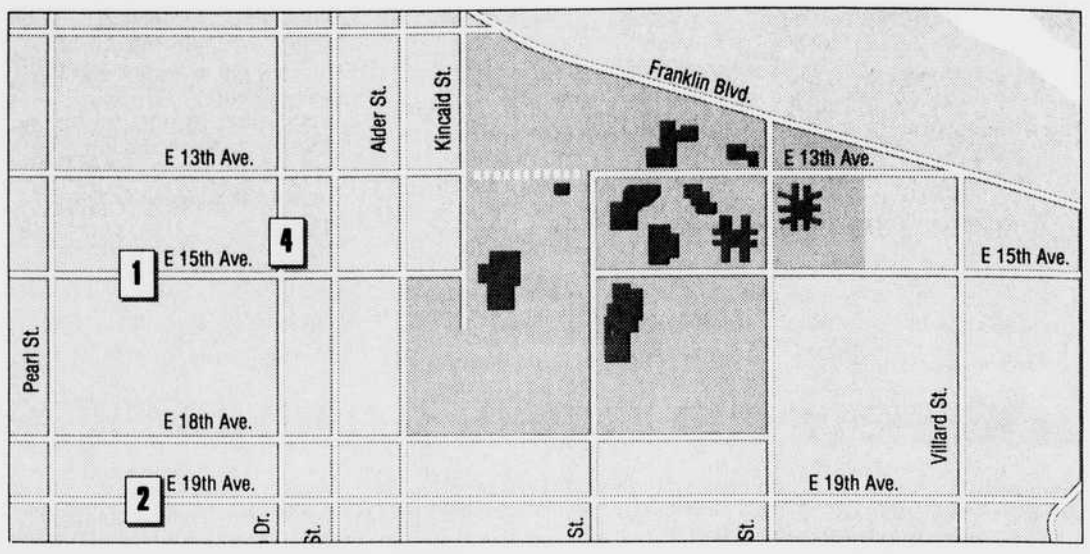
2 A burglary case involving items stolen from the Theta Chi fraternity was recently closed after the items were returned anonymously, a police report stated.

The man who reported items stolen Jan. 3 from his fraternity room, located at 1125 E. 19th Ave., told a police officer he suspected the former occupant of stealing the items. The former occupant was still in the process of moving out when the man currently living in the room was moving in.

The officer then attempted to contact the former occupant at his parents' house, where he was staying during the winter break. The officer did not contact the man, but he did leave a telephone message. The former occupant later saw the man and asked why he was suspected of the robbery.

The former occupant made admissions to the man during their conversation. The man then decided to handle the situation internally at the fraternity.

The stolen items were returned anonymously within a few days of the conversation.



High school students charged at large party

3 Two 18-year-old South Eugene High School male students were arrested for their actions during a party Jan. 10 involving a large group of minors, according to a police report.

At approximately 12:30 a.m., police officers were called back to a party at 2890 Emerald St. that had previously been broken up at about 10 p.m.

The call was made by a neighbor who heard juveniles shouting and drinking. The neighbor also said he heard someone say the key to the keg was missing.

When officers approached the residence, one of the students, who was later arrested, exited a side door of the house with a female and began walking down the driveway. When an officer contacted the man, the officer noticed a strong odor of beer on the man's breath.

The officer was able to identify the man in charge of the house and ordered all persons but him to leave the area. The officer told the man he would be cited or jailed for making alcohol available for minors. He was also cited for providing a location for alcohol consumption.

Police cite minors found with alcohol

4 Four University students were cited for minor in possession Jan. 10 after officers noticed a large gathering in the 1500 block of Patterson Street, according to a police report.

At approximately 11:50 p.m., an officer observed the large group in which several persons were holding open beer cans and bottles. Officers then did a foot patrol of the area to deal with violations of city ordinances.

All of those cited were 18 or 19 years old. The fine for minor in possession is $150.

Wells Fargo robber remains at large

5 There was another bank robbery in Eugene Monday afternoon. The Wells Fargo Bank at 710 Polk St. was robbed shortly after 3 p.m., a police report stated.

The suspect entered the bank at approximately 3:15 p.m., displayed a handgun and verbally demanded money from one teller. The suspect then fled on foot to the west and south directions of the bank.

The suspect is described as a white female 25 to 30 years old, five feet eight inches tall, weighing 130 pounds, wearing a ski mask over her face, a blue sweatshirt and dark trousers.

The Eugene Police Department and the FBI are continuing their investigation of the robbery.
