

Sophomore A.J. Feeley will look to establish himself as a contender for the top quarterback spot during the scrimmage after having what Mike Bellotti called a "very strong spring."

Ducks: Quarterback race gets tighter

Sort of. "The defensive line is an interesting position," Bellotti said. "There's a lot of people still [in contention for playing time]. I couldn't tell you who the top four or five or six are ... and that's sort of exciting because I think they've played well, so it means we have more depth than we thought we had."

As far as the kicking game goes, Bellotti said Dan Katz and Nathan Villegas have "clearly stood out."

The scrimmage, at least for the first half and possibly three quarters, Bellotti said, will be played under normal game conditions, with the possibility of the clock going to running time in the fourth quarter.

The squads will be divided up in a "best against the rest" format, according to Bellotti, with the first-team offense and defense going up against whatever's left.

"We hope it'll be very competitive," Bellotti said, "but I would like to see that first unit establish themselves as the dominant power out there on the field."

At quarterback, the Ducks go in to the spring game in the same situation as it ended last season, with Akili Smith and Jason Maas relatively even at the top of the depth chart, although Bellotti said sophomore A.J. Feeley has made a case for himself with a strong spring.

"A.J. has made it a much more competitive situation, not just a two-man race, but a three-man race, and one in which I think he's closed the gap considerably."

Bellotti said all three, along with redshirt freshman Joey Harrington, will be getting "equal opportunities" Saturday, although how much actual work they get depends on how they perform and move the ball.

Rather than taking an active roll in the scrimmage, Bellotti said he will sit back and observe in order to get a better feel for where the team is at before fall practice starts.

He came to play.

Armed with every conceivable racquet, board, and bike; loaded with all manner of puck, stick, round ball, softball and mitt; what we have here is a player. A go-getter. A true sports vehicle. And a key to his mettle is the gasoline he uses. TECHRON The Technon additive helps clean fuel injectors and valves. Chevron Supreme with Technon. See, he was designed to play his best with a high octane gasoline. And Chevron Supreme has the high octane he thirsts for. So call him a game breaker. Call him a franchise player. Call him anything, but give him Chevron Supreme with Technon. He'll call you a team player, and that's a very sporting thing to say.

SPORTS BRIEFS

Knudson receives academic honor

Oregon cross country runner Kaarin Knudson was named to the 1998 GTE academic all-American second team for the 1997 fall and winter at-large sports, it was announced Wednesday.

The senior from Anchorage, Alaska, who is redshirting the current track and field season with a back injury, carries a 3.94 grade-point average in journalism and still managed to help the Oregon women to a second-place finish at last fall's Pacific-10 Championships and an eighth-place finish at the NCAA Championships in cross country.

Knudson joined UCLA distance runner Katerina Kechris

as the two Pac-10 representatives to be honored.

The seven at-large sports from which the field of all-Americans were chosen include cross country, field hockey, gymnastics, rifle, skiing, soccer, swimming and diving.

Oregon adds Indiana to football schedule

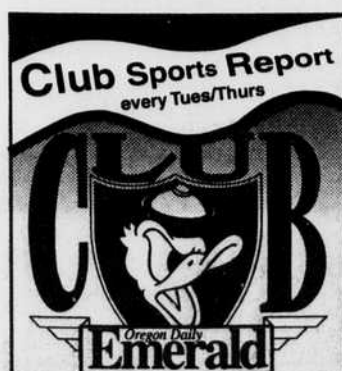

Continuing its relationship with the Big Ten Conference, Oregon football officials announced Thursday the Ducks will play a home-and-home series with Indiana beginning in 2004 in Eugene.

The Ducks will play in Bloomington the following season.

It will be the third and fourth matchups all-time between the two schools.

"The addition of Indiana University to our football schedule continues to illustrate our commitment to showcase our program on a national level," Oregon athletics director Bill Moos said. "I also believe it demonstrates that we have enhanced our reputation across the country in recent years, because it wasn't long ago we were unable to attract such quality opponents to play in Autzen Stadium."

Oregon will begin its eight-year run of matchups against Big Ten opponents this fall when it hosts Michigan State. The Ducks will play the Spartans in East Lansing in 1999 as well as Wisconsin in 2000 and 2001 and Michigan in 2002 and 2003. The Ducks will host the Wolverines in 2003.
