

Applying Psychology to Real World Problems

Department of Psychology, Summer Session, 1998

Join us for an exciting summer of Psychology! Our summer classes are small and are geared towards investigating real life issues. Course offerings include: Domestic Assault of Women • Evolution and Social Behavior • Girls at Risk • New View of the Aging Mind • Political Psychology • Psychology of Women's Health • Sleep and Dreams • Trauma and Awareness.

Register Now for Oregon Summer and Psychology

For a complete course listing and more information, please visit our web page: http://dynamic.uoregon.edu/psych\_summer/

ES6200

Are you in Portland this Summer?

The University of Oregon is there with you. Continue progress toward your degree while you're in Portland this summer. The following courses are offered at the UO Portland Center this summer.

University of Oregon
Portland Center
722 S.W. Second Avenue

Register by telephone
(Summer Duck Call) now

The 1998 summer session bulletin and schedule of classes has important information about courses, special programs, housing, registration, and fees

For a free copy call
(541) 346-3475;
Toll free, 1 (800) 524-2404

Or visit our web site:
<http://darkwing.uoregon.edu/~uosummer/>

The site includes the 1998 summer session bulletin and schedule of classes

BA 101 Introduction to Business (4 credits) June 22–August 14. Historical, social, political, economic, and legal environments within which business operates. Interrelationships of major functional areas including management, finance, marketing, and accounting. Instruction includes both in-class lectures, discussion, and cases as well out-of-class distance education technology and format. For registration and prerequisite information call (800) 524-2404. Self-support course fee, $405. Dusseau. In-class sessions are June 22, July 20, July 27, August 3, and August 10; 6:00–9:00 P.M.

RUSS 399 Russia and Business (3 credits) June 22–July 17. Explores the changes in Russian politics, culture, and business in the 1990s. Investigates the Russian national character, business ethics, and etiquette. Includes rudiments of Russian vocabulary—enough to survive. For registration information call (541) 346-3475. Self-support course fee, $330. Kripkov. Meets Tuesdays and Thursdays; 6:00–9:30 P.M.

ANTH 407/507 Medical Anthropology and AIDS (3 credits) June 22–July 17. Examines medical ideas, systems, practices, problems and institutions from several unique perspectives: anthropological, cross-cultural, historical, theoretical and philosophical. Explores questions related to health risks, illnesses, disease and human suffering. For registration information, call (800) 524-2404. Self-support course fee, $330. Hammar. Meets Tuesdays and Thursdays; 2:00–5:00 P.M.

Self-support course fees replace fees listed in the Tuition Schedule in the Schedule of Classes. Formal admission to the university is not required to enroll in these courses.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

The university is an equal-opportunity, affirmative-action institution committed to cultural diversity and compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act.

YOU CAN READ THE EMERALD FROM ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD.

o.d.e. on the world wide web: <http://darkwing.uoregon.edu/~ode>

IT'S JUST LIKE REALLY BEING HERE, BUT WITHOUT ALL THE RAIN.

Oregon Daily Emerald

The Oregon Daily Emerald is published daily Monday through Friday during the school year and Tuesday and Thursday during the summer by the Oregon Daily Emerald Publishing Co. Inc., at the University of Oregon, Eugene, Oregon. A member of the Associated Press, the Emerald operates independently of the University with offices in Suite 300 of the Erb Memorial Union. The Emerald is private property. The unlawful removal or use of papers is prosecutable by law.

NEWSROOM — 346-5511

Editor in chief: Sarah Kickler
Managing Editor: Nicole Krueger
Community: Michael Burnham, editor; Tricia Duryee, Jesse Sowa
Entertainment: Evan Denbaum, editor; Shannon Sneed
Higher Education: Teri Meeuwse, editor; Ben Romano, Amalie Young
Perspective: Michael Schmierbach, editor; Chris Hutchinson, illustrator; Jonas Allen, Kameron Cole, Hannah Dillon, Jeff Shaw, columnists

Student Activities: Doug Irving, editor; Michael Hines, Chris Kenning, Kristina Rudinskas
Sports: Alex Pond, editor; Joel Hood, Rob Moseley, Tim Pyle
Copy Desk: Holly Sanders, copy chief; Brian Deka, Kelly Schulze, Shannon Sneed
News Art: Matt Garton, editor; Pamela Sirianni, Cara Strazzo
Photography: Amanda Cowan, Rose Fung, Laura Goss, Nick Medley, Kristen Sullivan
On-line: Jake Ortman, editor; Nicholas Stiffler, webmaster
Freelance: Carl Yeh, editor

On-line FAFSA filing is faster and better

By Jenna Mokalla
Freelance Reporter

Electronically filing the FAFSA is faster than filling out a paper form and has other additional benefits. Students can avoid some application delays by submitting the FAFSA — Free Application for Federal Student Aid — over the Web.

"The on-line version proofreads applications and catches errors before they are transmitted," said Jim Gilmore, associate director of financial aid at the University. "This ensures that the information supplied is correct and ready for review."

In 1996, the Department of Education implemented an electronic version of the FAFSA on the Web.

"Producing paper, sending out letters to applicants, requesting corrections, and hiring staff to look over applications and enter data costs money," Gilmore said. "By changing over to an electronic method, the government saves a tremendous amount of money."

About 15,000 University students apply for financial aid. FAFSA is used to determine student eligibility for federal financial aid programs such as Pell grants, Perkins loans, direct subsidized and unsubsidized loans, and work study.

The Department of Education estimates that the time required to complete the on-line FAFSA application form averages from an hour to an hour and a half. This includes the time taken to read instructions, fill out the form and allow the program to proofread submitted data. After the form has been completed, FAFSA Web site creates an electronic record of the student's application data and transmits it to the Department of Education over the Internet.

Three days after submitting an on-line application, students can check the status of their application by calling 1-800-801-0576 between 7 a.m. and 7 p.m. CST. They will receive their results within two weeks.

After completing the FAFSA on the Web application form, students are given an electronic access code that may be used in the future to file a renewal FAFSA over the Web. One concern raised by Gilmore is that students still have to mail in their signature form. The form acknowledges that the information they have supplied is correct and that they agree to the terms of the FAFSA application.

Because of security concerns about sending information over the Internet, all data on the on-line application is scrambled through a process called encryption. If someone were to come across the information, the scrambling would make the information unreadable to anyone except for the Department of Education.

Gilmore said he thinks the on-line version of applying for financial aid will become a more viable option as more students use computers.

There is no fee to submit the FAFSA electronically. Users will need to have a computer with Web access. Students also will need 1997 information, including W-2 forms, records of other income, federal income tax returns, and statements of any stocks, bonds or other investments.

Students interested in applying on-line can access the Department of Education Web site at www.fafsa.ed.gov. The deadline to apply for financial aid for the 1998-99 school year is June 30, 1999.

When you're ready to Step Out, Step Into
DELPHINA
Luscious Clothes for Men & Women
1292 High Street • 343-3225

Welcome to the GRE

There are nearly 1/2 million people taking the GRE this year. Kaplan will help you stand out.

A great score on the GRE computer test is critical to your application. Prepare with Kaplan and get the score you need. Classes are filling fast, so call today.

GMAT GRE KAPLAN MCAT LSAT

1-800-KAP-TEST
720 East 13th #303 www.kaplan.com 345-4420

Kaplan CAT. It's not important, it's critical