CAMPUS BRIEFS

YWCA will sponsor anti-racism rally

A rally today will observe the National Day of Commitment to Eliminate Racism.

The YWCA will sponsor the event, which begins at 11 a.m. on the EMU East Lawn. Donna Albro, interim director of the YWCA, will be the guest speaker. Albro was the affirmative action director at Lane Community College and a member of the Human Rights Commission.

Students will be invited to share their thoughts. All ASUO programs have also been invited to attend.

The national YWCA has sponsored the Day of Commitment since 1992. It began as a response to the Rodney King beating and the Los Angeles riots.

This is the first year the University will participate. Call the YWCA at 346-4439 for more information.

Author visits to talk about 'land ethics'

The Oregon Humanities Center will host "Land Bridges and Land Ethics," a free public talk by naturalist and author David Rains Wallace today at 7 p.m. in the EMU Ballroom.

Wallace is the 1998 Robert D. Clark Lecturer in the Humanities, a lecture established by the Bowerman family in honor of historian and author Robert D. Clark, president emeritus of the University. The Clark lecture seeks to promote intelligent, critical public discourse on the natural sciences, natural history and the interface among science, social and cultural affairs.

Wallace spent more than 20 years examining the history of southern Mexico, Belize, Guatemala, Costa Rica, Nicaragua, Honduras and Panama to write his most recent work, "The Monkey's Bridge: Mysteries of Evolution in Central America." The book uncovers the dramatic biological and geological past of the land bridge that rose from the sea to join North and South America three million years ago.

Honored professor to give public lecture

Political science Professor John M. Orbell will deliver a free public lecture, "Cooperation: Promise-Making and Projecting Our Own Intentions" on May 13 at 4 p.m. in the Alumni Lounge in Gerlinger Hall.

Orbell was one of three distinguished professors honored this year by the College of Arts and Sciences. As part of the honor, each distinguished professor delivers a public lecture.

Orbell is currently involved with several projects. One study examines the mind's capacity to recognize cooperative and competitive propensities in others and then to dissemble one's own propensities to be cooperative or competitive as others attempt to read them.

Another project investigates the role of physical beauty in prompting cooperative behavior from others.

STUDENT ADVISORS WANTED

Need committed and creative student volunteers to advise the University Health Center regarding programs, services, finances, and health insurance.

Student advisors will spend about 1-2 hours per week as members of the evolving Student Health Advisory Committee (SHAC) and will guide the University Health Center in promoting a healthy campus through the storm of health care reform.

Successful participants will gain an in-depth understanding of health care delivery and its financing, will learn about the health issues of college students, and will develop interpersonal skills and confidence.

Routine meetings are scheduled at 3p.m. Fridays, allowing members to plan their class schedules accordingly.

Applications can be picked up at the University Student Health Center front desk.

Completed applications should be submitted to the University Health Center Director's office by Tuesday, May 19.
