WOW: Most tickets under $10

Rebecca Gates, songwriter/singer/guitarist/producer for The Spinanes, plays, as Spin magazine describes their latest, "the merde out of her guitar." Special guest Scrawl will open.

Sunday will feature El Vez and the Memphis Mariachis. Though he comes off as a King impersonator, El Vez brings a reputation as "the Cross-Cultural Caped Crusader singing for truth, justice and the Mexican/American way." The multi-cultural, multimedia atmosphere will continue to blaze with special guest King of Hawaii, a "southwestern/country/surf" blend and their accompanying Flamenco dancer. The fun begins at 8:30 p.m. when Los Mex Pistols open.

The WOW Hall draws more students during the school year, Fennessy said.

He defended CCPA's reputation against the question of whether all-age concerts foster delinquency. An Aug. 1 ¡Tchkung! show was followed by a drum circle of about 130 people in the street. An anti-Nike chant turned into heavy vandalism in the 5th Street Market area around 1 a.m.

"Really, that was unprecedented," Fennessy said. "The band did not have permission to start a drum circle in the street."

CCPA offers many opportunities for volunteer work and often showcases a University student in their monthly art display. The budget for 1997, which came mostly in earned income, totaled $363,300.

CCPA has a no-alcohol, no-smoking policy. There is, however, a beer garden in the basement of the building. Most shows cost $5 to $10. Tickets are available at the EMU Ticket Office, CD World, Green Noise Records, House of Records, La Tiendita & Taco Loco, The Record Exchange, and online at <http://www.ticketweb.com>. For more information, call 687-2746 or visit the ticket office at 291 W.
