Forum: Films will continue

Reason 3: You have reluctantly forgotten the 33 years since BD went electric.

He has been plucking some of the standards on his Australia/New Zealand tour. If you've seen BD live, though, you know that with every different band, he has a different sound and a different way of making his material evolve.

Reason 4: Everybody must get stoned!

BD ended a Hult Center show prematurely in 1995 when the "atmosphere" superseded the performance.

Dylan is performing with Van Morrison and Lucinda Williams. The EMU Cultural Forum is co-promoting the concert with Doubletee Promotions.

"We had a meeting and the athletic department said that it's almost impossible to get Mac Court between October and March," said cultural forum national music coordinator Matt Radochonski.

National music is also booking for fall term, Radochonski said. Events may include Indigo Swing in the EMU Ballroom on Oct. 3 and Zero Gravity, a multimedia event with movies, "extreme" sports, and a half-pipe on the EMU east lawn.

The film desk at the Cultural Forum is also busy scheduling the weekly film series for PLC 180.

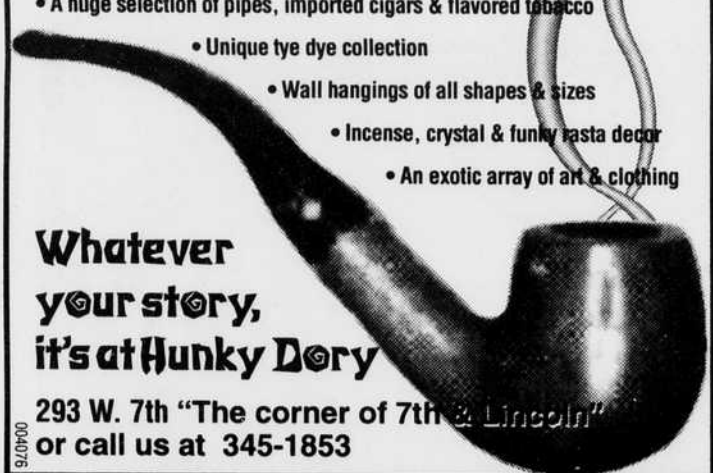

"I try to show films which haven't been seen elsewhere — foreign films, wonderful older films, and films that haven't made it to the big screen," said Vladimir K., Cultural Forum film coordinator. "The coolest thing is that we're showing 'The Cabinet of Dr. Caligari' and [Jazz Studies major] Kyle Sanna is writing the score."

Film schedules are available at the Cultural Forum office across from ASUO in the EMU. Shows are usually Friday nights and cost $2.
