Oregon loses footing in Hawaii

Oregon loses two games in Hawaii to fall to 3-3 after starting strong this season

By Tim Pyle
Oregon Daily Emerald

After a best-ever 3-1 start, the Oregon women's soccer team must have thought it was in paradise.

Ironically, it was a trip to Hawaii that brought the Ducks tumbling back down to earth.

Oregon (3-3) lost both of its games in the Outrigger Shootout in Honolulu on Sept. 18 and 19, scoring just one goal in the process.

Despite the losses, head coach Bill Steffen said he hopes the island experience will become a positive one for the Ducks.

"It was the kind of trip that obviously we need because we need to be mature as players, in the sense that no matter if we go to Hawaii or the Yukon Territory or whatever, we've got to show up and play regardless of distractions," Steffen said. "I think part of it was not so much the distractions of Hawaii, but also we've had a bit of success, we were feeling very good about ourselves, and we forgot about the things that made us feel good about ourselves.

"When you show up and don't play like you're capable of, you're going to run into unfortunate results. And that's what happened."

On Sept. 18, host Hawaii beat Oregon, 2-1, even though the Ducks scored first and outshot the Rainbows, 15-10.

Freshman forward Chalise Baysa scored her sixth goal of the season — already one more than Kristi Morris and Sierra Marsh scored to lead Oregon in 1997 — on midfielder Morris' first assist of the season just four minutes into the match. But the Ducks' inability to capitalize on numerous other scoring chances at Ala Wai Field allowed Hawaii to bolster its record to 4-0, Steffen said.

Oregon's frustration rose to new heights Sept. 19 against San Diego, as the Ducks were shut out for the first time of the season. The match was scoreless through 70 minutes until the Toreros (4-2) scored twice in less than seven minutes to provide the final 2-0 margin. Oregon was outshot, 24-9, and relied upon goalkeeper Amanda Fox's 10 saves to keep close.

With 12 days off between that San Diego match and their Oct. 2 home match against San Francisco, the Ducks are in the midst of a second fall training camp. Steffen said he purposely configured the schedule to give Oregon the respite.

Increasing the team's overall fitness and speed of play are the two main goals during the mini-camp, Steffen said.

"We're capable of playing at a very good pace, but if we don't remember to keep our attacking shape, it drops," Steffen said, "and we tend not to play as intelligently as we need to."

The Ducks, 2-0 at home, will look to continue their success at brand new Papé Field in nonconference games against San Francisco and Portland State on Friday and Saturday.

Heisman Trophy winner dies at 71

By Robert Weller
The Associated Press

DENVER — Doak Walker, the 1948 Heisman Trophy winner who starred on two NFL championship teams and was paralyzed in a skiing accident earlier this year, died Sunday at 71.

Walker died at Routt Hospital in Steamboat Springs, the ski resort about 100 miles from Denver, where he had lived. The cause of death was complications from his paralysis, the hospital said.

Walker was injured January 30 when he hit a change of terrain, soared about 25 feet and tumbled another 75 feet after slamming to the ground. The injury made it difficult for him even to talk, and at first he relied on eye and face movements to communicate with relatives and friends.

He had regained some of his ability to talk through rehabilitation, during which he had received thousands of letters and faxes from well-wishers.
