

Oregon Daily Emerald

Weather forecast

Today Mostly cloudy
High 62, Low 42

Tuesday Fog
High 60, Low 40

Business school changes

The undergraduate program of the school will be restructured by the end of next year / PAGE 6

UCLA comes out victorious

The volleyball team fights for an upset win against the Bruins, but the comeback is elusive / PAGE 11

An independent newspaper
Volume 100, Issue 40

University of Oregon
Eugene, Oregon

Candidates face the issues

Senate and House candidates discussed legislative issues in a forum Friday

By David Ryan
Oregon Daily Emerald

It was one generation vs. another Friday afternoon.

A candidate forum sponsored by Senior & Disabled services, OASIS Education Center and the American Association of Retired Persons became the scene of a debate Friday over funding priorities in State Legislature.

Eight state Senate and House candidates participated in the forum, including Democrats Susan Castillo (representing Senate District 20), Kitty Piercy (House District 39), Floyd Prozanski (House District 40) and Vicki Walker (House District 41). Representing the Republicans were Scott Austin (Senate District 20), James Seaberry (House District 39), John Pearson (House District 40) and Norm Fox (House District 41).

Twenty-six of the 31 people who attended the forum were senior citizens, and senior issues dominated the discussion.

However, discussion about limited money in the state budget to fund senior services brought up the issue of legislative priorities. That sparked a debate over the needs of public education compared with

Turn to FORUM, Page 4

Legislative candidates discuss funding priorities at a forum Friday afternoon.

Laura Goss/Emerald

KEEPING THE SPIRIT

Nick Medley/Emerald
Young Oregon fans show their spirit during halftime at Autzen Stadium Saturday, where the Ducks defeated USC 17-13.

Devoted Duck jazzes fans

"I've had to deal with pretty full-fledged insults from OSU, but they've got nothing better to do than insult people."

Darren Fabr e
'Green Boy'

Known to some as Green Boy, Darren Fabr e works the crowd at Autzen Stadium

By Kristina Rudinskas
Oregon Daily Emerald

It's not a bird or a plane, it's Green Boy — a flash of bright green spandex in the stands at a football game. Darren Fabr e may be one of the most enthusiastic Duck fans ever, and he wears his colors with pride while he riles the crowds at football, basketball and soccer games.

Duck fans can't miss him as he walks through the stadium in a full-body green spandex suit and a cape, slapping high-fives to Duck fans.

"I've had to deal with pretty full-fledged insults from OSU, but they've got nothing better to do than insult somebody because their team sucks," Fabr e said.

Green Boy swears he is more pro-Duck than anti-opponent. He works the crowds at Autzen Stadium and McArthur Court to get fans on their feet. Students might find him chanting "fearless Fletcher" near the 20-

Turn to GREEN BOY, Page 4

Ballot Measure 63 aims to restrict supermajority

Supporters hope to circumvent attempts to put supermajority on the lawbooks

By Mirjam Swanson
for the Emerald

In an effort to curtail Republican gubernatorial candidate Bill Sizemore's supermajority proposal that will appear on the 2000 ballot, his opponents have developed state Ballot Measure 63.

Sizemore's future measure would propose a two-thirds voter approval of any new or increased tax above the rate of inflation.

In effect, Measure 63 is a direct attempt to halt Sizemore's initiative before it appears on the ballot. If it passes Nov. 3, Measure 63 would require any initiative that seeks a supermajority to be subjected to the same supermajority.

"The reason that Measure 63 exists is Bill Sizemore," said

Turn to MEASURE 63, Page 4

