and Johnson are the most likely candidates to get Oregon on the scoreboard. The three starters collectively have scored 10 of the Ducks' 15 goals. Midfielder Laurie Duhrkoop has also tallied three goals.

The Wildcats (3-8-2, 0-4-1) are one of only two Pac-10 teams — Oregon State being the other — that Oregon has defeated in its three-year existence. The Ducks won the two teams' first meeting in Tucson, Ariz., last season when midfielder Sierra Marsh booted Oregon to a 2-1 victory by scoring with just more than two minutes remaining in the game.

Oregon native Nikki Jones, a forward from Canby, paces the Arizona scoring attack. Jones, a senior who is the Wildcats' all-time leading scorer with 63 points, has recorded four goals and five assists this season.

No matter what the outcome is today, Steffen said he hopes the Ducks will maintain their intensity Sunday against the Sun Devils (7-8, 3-2), which is something they failed to do in their second game in Los Angeles last weekend.

"To play [UCLA] that competitively was a good thing," Steffen said of Oregon's 2-0 loss. "Then we turned around against USC, and we were very flat and very nonchalant. We need to realize that we need to stay more focused for longer periods of time."

Freshman forward Stacey Tullock leads the Pac-10, not to mention Arizona State, in scoring with 30 total points and 12 goals.

Oregon to compete in Rolex tournament

Oregon men's tennis coach Chris Russell expects his player's performances at the Rolex Regional Individual Tournament on Saturday to set the tone for the rest of the year.

"[The tournament] helps the guys get individual rankings," Russell said. "And it also affects the team ranking going into the season."

Seven Ducks will be among the 128 players competing at the three-day tournament in Moraga, Calif. Ten colleges, from the San Francisco Bay Area to Washington, will be represented, including three other Pacific-10 Conference schools. Stanford, California and Washington will all join the Ducks at the tournament.

"It's a pretty big tournament," senior team captain Carlos Navarro said. "It's important because there's [going to be] a lot of good players, but we expect to do the best we can, we expect to win several rounds."

Junior Guillermo Carter is seeded 8th, while freshmen Bertrand Devillers and Thomas Schreiber are seeded among the top 20.
