

College Bowl competition begins

The preliminary rounds of this year's College Bowl are getting under way at 6 p.m. today in the EMU Ballroom. The College Bowl challenges four-member teams to a barrage of questions ranging from biology to poetry.

The top four teams will participate in the campus finals at 6 p.m. on Thursday in the EMU Ballroom. The winning team will then go on to the regional competition on Feb. 19 and 20 on campus. The Duck team may even get a chance to make it to the national competition at the University of Florida in April. The last time a University team placed in the national competition was in 1993.

Free clinic shows use of avalanche beacons

Imagine skiing in the Alps and sliding down the smooth untouched snow lightly under your feet. All of the sudden you hear a thunderous sound and discover the ground slipping around you in an avalanche.

In a full burial avalanche incident, search and rescue by companions is the only real chance of survival and using an avalanche beacon can help missing skiers be found.

The University Outdoor Program will hold a free clinic on Nov. 17 at 7:30 p.m. to educate students on the proper use of avalanche transceivers.

The Ortovox avalanche beacon is just one part of the Allard and Casey Memorial Safety Library. The safety library is the first nationwide library started in 1995 that allows students to rent out avalanche beacons, cell phones, snow shovels, radios and other safety devices.

The library is named after two students who died climbing the North Sister mountain.

The clinic will cover basic avalanche search and rescue and use of the transceivers.
