to play [this season]," head coach Jody Runge said. "If not at [point guard], because we're pretty loaded at the one, then at [shooting guard]."

Alissa Edwards, a 5-6 guard averaged 21 points, 5.8 assists, 5.5 rebounds and 5.3 steals per game for Hermiston as a junior and was named to the all-state second team as a senior.

"Alissa Edwards can really shoot," Runge said. "If she comes along defensively, she'll get good minutes."

Duck fans might recognize the other two additions to the active roster.

Amanda Brown from the extensive coverage she received in The Register Guard for her prep exploits in basketball and track and field.

Earlier this year, Brown captured her fourth-straight state long jump title for Sheldon High School. A few months earlier, the 5-6 guard led the Irish to the state basketball quarterfinals.

Alyssa Fredrick might seem familiar too. The 6-3 transfer from San Diego State attended every Oregon home game last season. She was at the end of the bench, in street clothes, sweating out a mandated redshirt season.

"It got really boring sitting on the end of the bench in a skirt," Fredrick said. "I want to puh-lay."

The last time Fredrick had the chance to play at McArthur court was in 1997, as an Aztec.

She had a successful performance, setting a Pepsi Shootout record with 15 rebounds in one game.

ATLANTA — A lot has changed since the New York Yankees last came south for the World Series.

The old stadium is just a parking lot now, with painted lines where the basepaths used to be. Jimmy Key and Cecil Fielder are out of baseball. Mark Wohlers and Marquis Grissom are out of Atlanta.

"I don't think we're going to spend a lot of time figuring out what's the difference between now and 1996," Atlanta pitcher Tom Glavine said Thursday.

Glavine will start against Orlando "El Duque" Hernandez, MVP of the AL Championship Series, in game 1 Saturday night at Turner Field.

The addresses have switched, and so have the attitudes going into a rematch of the '96 Series, won by New York in six games.

"That team wasn't sure if it was good enough to beat [Atlanta]," said pitcher David Cone, one of 12 Yankees left from that club. "We had never done it before. Now we have the experience to know what we can do."

First baseman Tino Martinez said: "That year we were the underdogs. We wanted to win, but this year we expect to win."

Chipper Jones is one of only eight still remaining on Atlanta.

"We're a lot closer as a team, we're a lot tighter," the third baseman said. "We didn't have a lot of injuries '96, we didn't have a lot of adversity."

Atlanta's only setback came that season after they won the first two games of the World Series at New York. Back home, in the final three games ever at Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium, they lost three in a row to the Yankees.

In the pivotal play of the series, Jim Leyritz hit a three-run homer in the eighth inning on a hanging breaking ball from Wohlers in game

4. The long drive sailed over the glove of left fielder Andruw Jones.

"That was a mistake that he hit it," Jones said after Thursday's workout. "But I don't remember that stuff. That was 1996 and this is 1999. I'm hoping things go differently."

The defending champion Yankees are trying to win their third championship in four years. Atlanta is hoping to win its second title in the '90s — and avoid becoming the first team to lose four World Series in a decade since the New York Giants from 1910-19.

Atlanta won two of three at Yankee Stadium in July during interleague play. But slugger Ryan Klesko, who homered twice in one of those games, said that won't have much effect on what happens in October.

Klesko said the results from 1996 won't play a role, either.

"I think we've changed a lot more than they have."

Kansas City's defense on the offensive

BALTIMORE — As expected, the Kansas City didn't generate much offense against the Baltimore Ravens. It didn't have to.

Kansas City turned two interceptions into touchdowns, including a 56-yard score by James Hasty, and cruised to a 35-8 victory Thursday night.

Kansas City (4-2) had 80 yards in the first half and only 132 yards through three quarters. Elvis Grbac threw two touchdown passes to Tony Gonzalez and the defense did the rest, completely frustrating Baltimore quarterback Stoney Case in the process.

Hasty's touchdown made it 14-0 in the third quarter, and that was enough to dispatch the Ravens (2-4), who lost their second straight under first-year coach Brian Billick.

The conservative game plan of Kansas City coach Gunther Cunn ingham worked to perfection — thanks to a defense that came within four minutes of the team's first road shutout in 23 years.

After Grbac connected with Gonzalez for a 22-yard touchdown with 12:37 left, Donnie Edwards picked off Case's pass and lateraled to Reggie Tongue, who went the final 38 yards for a 28-0 lead.

That ended the night for Case, a hero earlier in the year but the recipient of jeers from the crowd of 68,771. Case was 15-for-37 for 103 yards before being replaced by Tony Banks.

The Ravens broke the shutout with 4:05 left, thanks to a pass interference call that covered 35 yards. Errict Rhett scored from the 2, ruining Kansas City's bid for their first road shutout since a 19-0 victory over San Diego in 1976.

Hasty had two interceptions in a game for the first time since 1988.

Kansas City had one efficient drive in the first half, and it was enough to put it up 7-0 at halftime.

Case was 1-for-10 in the first quarter, but the Ravens benefited from two pass interference penalties against Cris Dishman, including a 37-yarder, to move to the Kansas City 16.

Matt Stover kicked a 32-yard field goal, but Baltimore had 12 men on the field. Stover then hit the right upright with a 37-yard try.

Kansas City, meanwhile, didn't get its initial first down until Grbac completed a 20-yard pass to Kevin Lockett the final play of the first period. That started a 73-yard drive that ended with Grbac throwing an 11-yard touchdown pass to Gonzalez.

Kansas City managed only seven yards and failed to make a first down on its other six possessions before halftime.
