Oregon

this week," Smith said.

Not that they would otherwise be lacking incentive with their Rose Bowl hopes on the line.

The pressure is definitely on the defense, but the Ducks' offense will need to string together four quarters of its "A" game Saturday in order to have a chance to win.

A rejuvenated Reuben Droughns is expected to help with that. But he'll have to be prepared for a tough Wildcat defense.

"Arizona is a very physical football team," Bellotti said. "They pride themselves on that. Reuben is gonna get rocked and socked out there... I think he's ready for that."

Quarterback A.J. Feeley is the Pac-10's leading passer with nearly 284 yards per game.

Meanwhile senior Tony Hartley is three touchdowns and 266 yards away from becoming Oregon's all-time leader in touchdowns and receiving yards. The Ducks' other starting receiver, Keenan Howry, is on pace to break all of Hartley's first-year records. He's already caught 14 passes for 244 yards.
