Caregiver swindles widow from Coos Bay

Former Coos Bay caregiver Tammy Sue Stanton will spend 18 months in prison for gambling away $30,000 of an elderly client's money, according to the Attorney General's office.

Stanton, who now lives in Nevada, pleaded guilty to first degree criminal mistreatment on Nov. 10. She also confessed that she took the job in 1997 with the intention of swindling the 81-year-old Coos Bay widow of her money.

The situation was discovered in June when a protective services worker went to the house and found that the house, as well as the widows, were dirty and unkempt. There was also evidence that food had not been prepared in the kitchen for some time.

In addition to the 18-month prison term, Judge Richard Barron ordered Stanton to pay $10,000 in restitution to the victim. Peter Cogswell, of the attorney general's office, said the figure was determined by the judge, based on Stanton's ability to pay and the likelihood of her paying.

University active in World AIDS Day

Today marks the 12th annual World AIDS Day, and the theme of this year's program is "Children and Young People: Listen, Learn and Live."

Many University organizations are organizing activities for the World AIDS Day this week.

Peer Health Educators from the University Health Center put signs on the roadside outside Gilbert and Condon halls to expand students' awareness about HIV and AIDS, said Annie Dochstuhl, health educator at the health center.

The Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual and Transgender Alliance will hold a dance for World AIDS Day this Friday at the EMU Fir Room. For more information regarding the dance, contact the LGBTA at 346-3360.

According to information published by the World Health Organization, 47 million people have been infected with HIV since the epidemic of the virus 15 years ago; 33.6 million people are living with HIV or AIDS globally in 1999, and more than 2.6 million people have died because of the virus this year.

In the United States, 4,460 people aged 13 to 19 and 15,432 people 20 to 24 years old were diagnosed with HIV by June, 1999, according to information issued by the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.

THIS YEAR A LOT OF COLLEGE SENIORS WILL BE GRADUATING INTO DEBT.

Under the Army's Loan Repayment program, you could get out from under with a three-year enlistment.

Each year you serve on active duty reduces your indebtedness by one-third or $1,500, whichever amount is greater, up to a $65,000 limit.

The offer applies to Perkins Loans, Stafford Loans, and certain other federally insured loans, which are not in default.

And debt relief is just one of the many benefits you'll earn from the Army. Ask your Army Recruiter.
