Oregon Daily Emerald

volume 101, issue 79

At the theater, why not check out "Magnolia," the movie everyone is buzzing about? Jason Robards (center photo, left) leads an all-star cast, directed by Paul Thomas Anderson (right). Read a review on PAGE 5.

If the stage is your true idea of theater, don't miss "The Last Night of Ballyhoo" (below) at Actors Cabaret Theatre. The play opens Friday; get an idea of the story on PAGE 8.

Maybe listening to the sounds of a longtime band is more your style (above). Then attend Monday night's Eugene Symphonic Band's concert at Beall Concert Hall. For a peek at the group's history, see PAGE 4.

Don't just sit there...
Get out and DO SOMETHING!

The Eugene arts community waits for no one, so don't expect a special invitation to an event.
