

Black History

New Historical Book!

Editor and award-winning journalist Herb Boyd combines a powerful chorus of voices from the past and present to create Autobiography of a People, a compelling portrait of how African Americans have survived—and shaped—some of the most important events in United States History.

From Benjamin Banneker on Thomas Jefferson's hypocrisy, Sojourner Truth on black women's right, James Cameron on escaping a mob lynching, to LL Cool J on rap... this anthology records both the famous African American voices and the ordinary people shaping this country's history. A stunning book.
