

Scoreboard

WASHINGTON (67)

	Min	FG	FT	R	A	P
Walcott	27	4-8	0-1	6	3	8
Green	28	6-10	4-5	8	4	16
Carey	37	3-8	0-0	7	2	7
Luton	28	3-10	2-7	4	3	10
Johnson	27	4-6	0-0	4	1	10
Perkins	24	6-9	1-3	7	0	13
Clark	14	0-1	0-2	0	0	0
Brown	12	0-1	3-4	3	2	3
Coffee	2	0-0	0-0	0	0	0
Shelton	1	0-0	0-0	1	0	0
Totals	200	26-53	10-22	43	15	67

Shooting: 49.1 3-point: 5-14 (Walcott 0-1, Green 0-1, Carey 1-3, Luton 2-5, Johnson 2-3, Clark 0-1)

* includes three team rebounds

OREGON (58)

	Min	FG	FT	R	A	P
Smith	33	2-9	4-8	7	4	8
Hartenstein	30	4-9	4-7	6	1	12
Wright	36	2-7	1-2	3	3	5
Jones	31	3-8	2-5	4	1	8
Scales	26	4-12	3-4	2	2	13
Jackson	16	2-6	5-6	3	1	10
Hicks	3	0-0	0-0	0	0	0
Lindquist	2	0-1	0-0	0	0	0
Norwood	9	0-1	0-0	1	1	0
Bracey	14	0-4	2-2	5	0	2
Totals	200	17-57	21-34	35	13	58

Shooting: 29.8 3-point: 3-15 (Smith 0-2, Wright 0-3, Jones 0-3, Scales 2-4, Jackson 1-3)

* includes four team rebounds

attendance: 9, 087 (Oregon's third sell-out of season)

Player of the Game

THALO GREEN

Washington's junior forward successfully returned to his home state and helped his Huskies pull off the huge upset victory with a game-high 16 points, eight rebounds and four assists.

Quotes of the Game

"I love coming home. I'm definitely a fan favorite, and I say that with plenty of sarcasm. They say plenty of stuff, but it's all in good fun."

Thalo Green,
UW forward and Salem native

"Certainly Washington doesn't think of themselves as a lower-echelon team. You have to respect their talent."

A.D. Smith,
UO forward

"I wanted this win so bad. I'm definitely going to call Terik tonight."

Bryan Brown,
UW guard and brother of former Oregon player Terik Brown

Best Bet

MLB
Chicago vs. Seattle
7 p.m., FoxSports
Northwest

Sports

Ducks win, close on Pac-10 title

Oregon wins its 27th straight over Northwest schools by beating Washington in the game's final moments

WOMEN'S NOTES

By Scott Pesznecker
Oregon Daily Emerald

Cold, down by eight and playing without starting point guard Shaquala Williams, it appeared that Oregon's hopes of repeating as Pacific-10 Conference champions were about to be dealt a crushing blow.

Ironic, because the only blow dealt was to Washington.

Swinging the ball over her head, sophomore Jamie Craighead's elbow connected with Megan Franza's nose, stopping the game temporarily with about three minutes left and sending the Huskies' bloodied junior to the locker room.

Craighead's elbow — apparently unintentional — also knocked loose the invisible lid that had been covering the Ducks' basket for much of the second half. Oregon resumed play with a decisive 7-0 run, capped by Angelina Wolvert's heroic low-post shot with 11.3 seconds remaining.

"I had my girl pinned inside, Jamie gave me a sweet pass, and I was able to face up and go baseline," said Wolvert, who finished with 13 points and five rebounds in 28 minutes. "I stopped, and I didn't know if I should shoot up. I pumped faked and she flew, and I was like, 'Oh, it's going in.' But if she hadn't jumped at that, I don't know."

"I'm sure whoever would have gotten the ball was going to step up and make the shot, and I think we all were just looking at each other wondering who it was going

Oregon Leaders

Scoring:
Williams 20
Wolvert 13
Dion 9
Meharry 9

Rebounds:
Meharry 9
Williams 7
Wolvert 5

Assists:
Williams 3

Turn to Women, page 13

Washington leaves the Ducks stunned

Washington puts a damper on Oregon's banner season, handing the Ducks a 67-58 setback Saturday

Leaders

Scoring:
(UO) Scales 13
(UW) Green 16

Rebounds:
(UO) Smith 7
(UW) Green 8

Assists:
(UO) Smith 4
(UW) Green 4

MEN'S NOTES

By Brett Williams
Oregon Daily Emerald

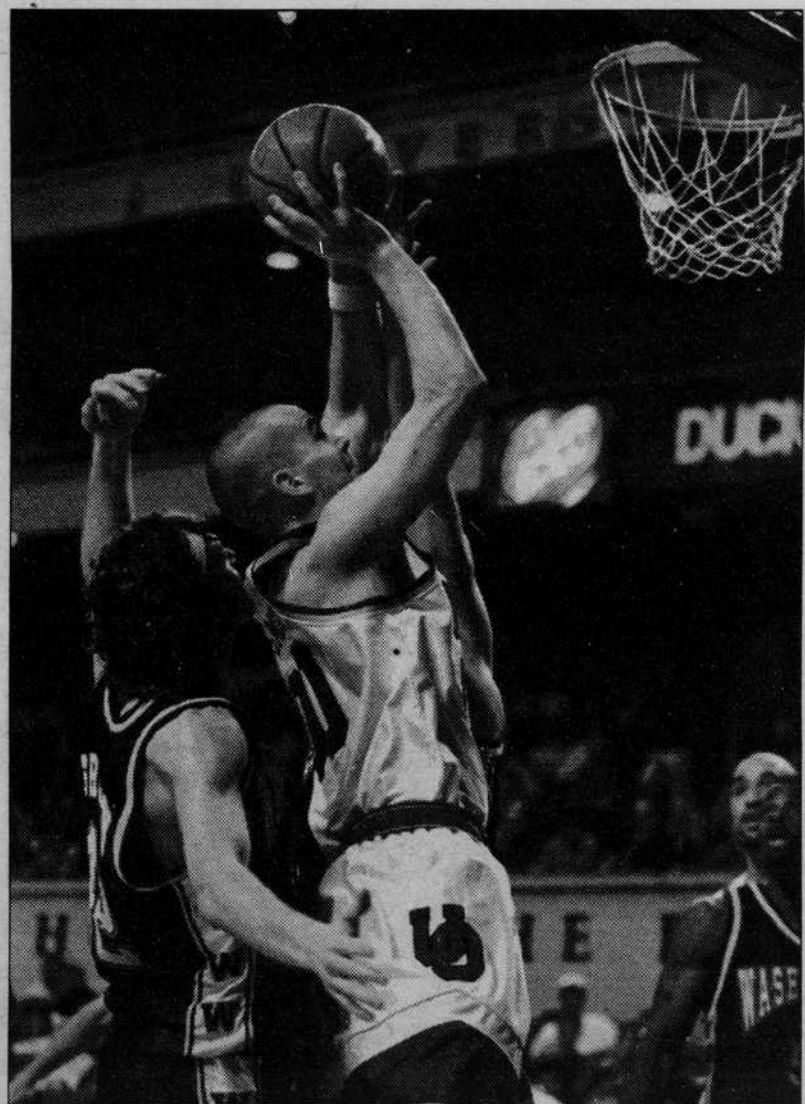

In a season marred by underachievement, Washington found reason to smile Saturday night.

In the Oregon camp, Saturday's loss was hardly a laughing matter.

The Ducks shot 18 percent from the field in the second half, which included a ten minute scoring drought. They allowed the Huskies to pull out their biggest win of the season, 67-58, and leave Oregon (18-6 overall, 8-4 Pacific-10 Conference) in third place. The Ducks' lead over Arizona State is now just one game.

Washington (9-16, 4-9) refused to fall prey to the rowdy crowd at The Pit, although it wasn't the first time this season the Huskies played above expectations away from Seattle.

You wouldn't believe it by last week's 71-47 blowout loss to a below-average Oregon State team, but Washington's record is better on the road (6-7) than at home (3-9). The win

Kevin Calame Emerald

Turn to Basketball, page 12 In a lackluster game against Washington, senior A.D. Smith manages to get past Thalo Green.

Former prep stars match-up at Mac Court

Jeff Smith

Oregon's A.D. Smith and Washington's Thalo Green traveled similar paths to get where they are today

The time was 9:33 p.m. Within 100 feet of each other in the basement of McArthur Court were two warriors who have been through many battles.

One was distraught — head sunk in lap while sitting in a corner of a room waiting for his turn to talk to the media about his team's devastating loss.

The other was elated — standing tall and proud with a handful of pepperoni pizzas waiting to be devoured.

Oregon senior forward A.D. Smith and Washington junior forward Thalo Green.

Two talented players who are practically identical in every aspect except hairstyle.

On this night, it was Green who led his Huskies (9-16 overall, 4-9 Pacific-10 Conference) to the gut-check 67-58 upset victory over the Ducks (18-6, 9-4).

And it was Smith who was held to only eight points in front of a disappointed sold-out Mac Court crowd of 9,087. It was just the second time this season that Smith was held to single digits.

"I shot the ball horribly from the inside and outside," said Smith, who went two-for-nine from the floor and was only four-for-eight at the free throw line. "I think I got our offense out of sync a couple of times and that allowed them to get

Turn to Jeff Smith, page 13