Saturday night was a coming-out party for the sophomore guard. Jones had a career high 27 points on 9-17 shooting, to go with six rebounds and six assists. He scored 14 of Oregon's final 20 points.

Quote of the Game

"I guess it was one of those grooves you get in. I guess the bucket felt real big for me. I wanted to come out and show them the real Frederick Jones."

■ The Ducks' Freddie Jones baffles Arizona with his aggressive play in Oregon's 86-81 victory

Talk about sweet redemption.

Oregon's Freddie Jones was out to prove a point Saturday against Arizona. Last season, with the Ducks trailing by one in the waning seconds, Jones had a chance to do what college basketball players dream of.

He was at the line with a chance for underdog Oregon to upset one of the country's elite teams.

But both of Jones' shots hit iron, and Arizona escaped with a two-point victory.

This year, as a more mature and experienced sophomore, Jones single-handedly took over the game and prompted an improbable comeback as Oregon knocked off No. 3 Arizona, 86-81, on Saturday at McArthur Court.

The Ducks needed a lift, trailing by 17 with just twelve minutes left, and Jones repeatedly came through. He scored 14 of Oregon's last 20 points, burning Arizona's Luke Walton consistently on drives to the basket.

With the Ducks behind 77-68, Jones went to work. His layup and three-pointer cut Oregon's deficit to 77-71.

Cougars hand Ducks devastating loss

The women's tennis team is unable to stave off a Washington State rally in its final home contest

Doubles play has been the Achilles heel for the Oregon women's tennis team all season. No. 34 Washington State took advantage of that weakness on Sunday, pulling out an amazing comeback victory by winning all three of its doubles competition in the Ducks' final home match.

"This was a difficult loss for us," head coach Jack Griffin said. "This definitely shows that our singles are where they need to be and that doubles need some improvement. We just had a few sloppy periods and gave up a few loose points. It was a very exciting match, unfortunately we came out on the losing end."

Ahead 4-2 after singles play, the Ducks looked as if they were going to knock off their second ranked opponent of the season. Oregon needed only one doubles win to clinch what would have been their sixth win of the season. But the Cougars (6-4 overall, 0-3 Pacific-10 Conference) came roaring back to prevail, 5-4.

Coupled with a 7-2 loss to No. 21 Washington on Saturday, the Ducks fell to 5-7 overall and 1-5 in the Pac-10. Despite playing conference foes, the two losses counted as non conference and will not go against their Pac-10 record. Oregon has a chance for revenge against the Washington schools at the end of March.

Ducks fight rain to get a couple of wins

The Oregon softball team picks up two wins and one loss at the Easton Showcase Tournament

Weather proved to be the toughest opponent of all in southern California.

Three of the No. 25 Oregon softball team's games were rained out and another interrupted by the bad weather at the Easton Showcase Tournament in Fullerton, Calif.

The Ducks (11-8) won two games and dropped one during the weekend. The team started the tournament on the right foot when it handed Colorado State a 6-2 defeat.

Oregon jumped ahead of the Rams in the bottom of the first and never looked back. Jill Robinson's two-out single was turned into a double on an error by Colorado State's right fielder Katie Koch. Triawn
