

MONDAY

WRITE
PAPER FOR SOCIOLOGY

WEDNESDAY

START MAKING CONTACTS
FOR SUMMER JOB

FRIDAY

GO OUT WITH FRIENDS

SATURDAY

WAKE UP
WITHOUT A HANGOVER

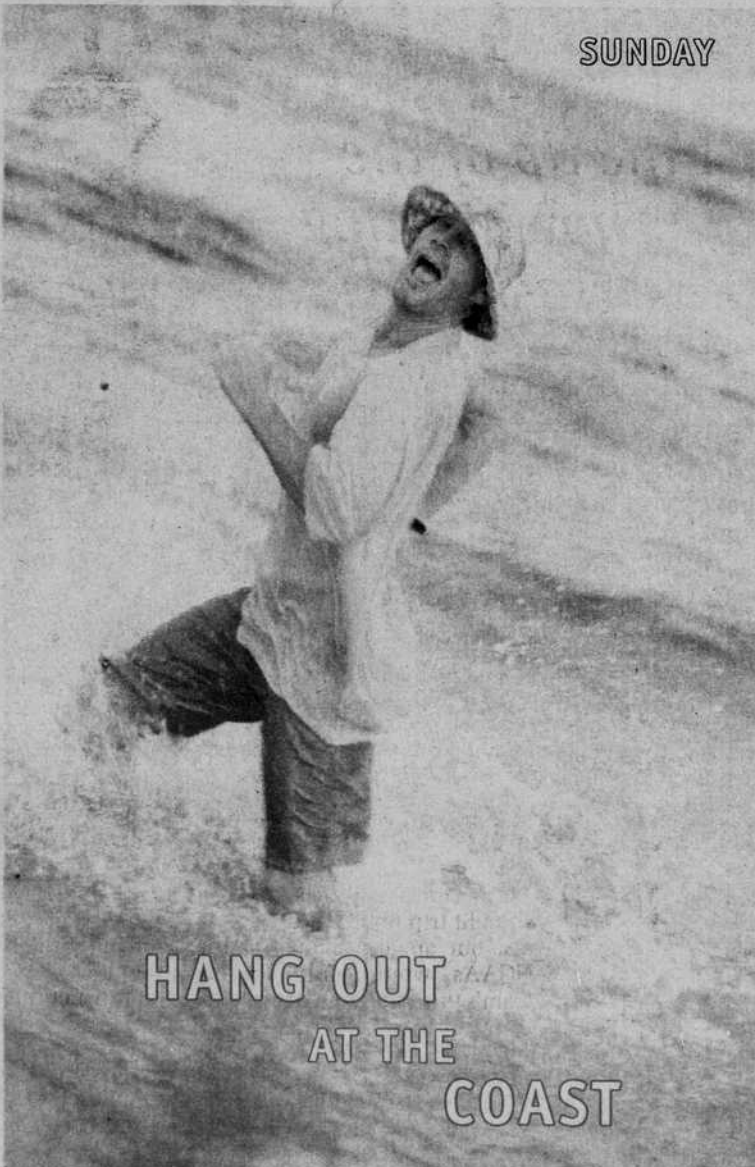

TUESDAY

SPEND TIME WITH JACK

THURSDAY

MEET WITH STUDY GROUP

SUNDAY

HANG OUT
AT THE COAST

News Briefs

Gender-bending boy doesn't want to go back to school

GRESHAM — A self-described "gay boy cross-dresser" says he plans to transfer to an alternative school after being suspended for wearing women's clothes and a bra stuffed with socks.

Brian Peters, 17, occasionally wears pink lipstick and carries a flowered purse to Sam Barlow High School. But it was slipping into a pink striped shirt, a black lace blouse, a long skirt, low-heeled pumps and a filled-out bra that got him in trouble with school officials April 21.

A teacher sent Peter to the office. After refusing to change his clothes, he was suspended for insubordination.

Peters says the suspension amounts to discrimination and violates his free-expression rights.

Brockovich campaigns against Oregon measure

PORTLAND — Erin Brockovich is again on a crusade. But instead of blowing the whistle on a major utility, she's set her sights on an Oregon ballot measure that would let the state Legislature limit civil lawsuit damages.

Brockovich — made a household name by the Julia Roberts movie — appears on a TV ad paid for by opponents of Measure 81, which is on the May 16 ballot.

In the blunt, common-sense style Roberts mimicked in the hit film, Brockovich tells Oregon voters they are in danger of letting the state Legislature become their judge and jury unless they defeat the measure.

"Don't give up your rights as people," Brockovich says. "Don't give your power away."

The Associated Press

Calendar

Thursday, May 4

A workshop about applying to graduate school will be held at 3:30 p.m. in the EMU Ben Linder Room.

Craft Center Lonely Pot Sale: Features work by resident potters Jason Solomon and Joe Davis. 10 a.m.-4 p.m. EMU Craft Center. Free. For information, browse craftcenter.uoregon.edu/ or call 346-4361.

Ecological Conversations seminar: Ohad Ezrahi, Minad Association for Spiritual Research and Jewish Renewal, Israel, discusses "Models of Gender and Ecology within Jewish Mysticism (Kabbalah)." 3-4:50 p.m. 337 Gilbert. Free. For information, call Lynne Fessenden at 346-5399.

Sports marketing panel: Eight women who are senior sports executives discuss opportunities for women in sports marketing in conjunction with the fifth annual Warsaw Sports Marketing Center's Women in Sports Business Symposium. 6 p.m. EMU Ballroom. Free. For information, e-mail rburton@oregon.uoregon.edu or call 346-3411.

Peace Corps presentation: "Mali and Haiti: The Great Peace Corps Adventure" features former volunteers who will show slides, share stories and answer questions about becoming a Peace Corps volunteer. 6:30-8:30 p.m. EMU Ben Linder Room. Free. For information, call Fred Jarman, 346-6026, or Errin Byrd, (800) 424-8580.

74%

of UO students drink 1 or fewer days a week... or don't drink at all

Data taken from 1998 CORE Survey

New View 2000 Office of Student Life