Pre's legacy is honored in many different ways

To An Athlete Dying Young

By A.E. Housman

The time you won your town the race
We chaired you through the marketplace;
Man and boy stood cheering by,
And home we brought you shoulder high.

Today, the road runners come,
Shoulder high we bring you home,
And set you at your threshold down,
Townsmen of a stiller town.

Smart lad, to slip betimes away,
From fields where glory does not stay,
And early through the laurel grows
It withers quicker than the rose.

Eyes the shady night has shut
Cannot see the record cut,
And silence sounds no worse than cheers,
After earth has stopped the ears.

Now you will not swell the rout
Of lads that wore their honors out,
Runners whom renown outran
And the name died before the man.

So see, before its echoes fade,
The fleet foot on the sill of shade,
And hold to the low lintel up
The still-defending challenge-cup.

And round that early-laureled head
Will flock to gaze the strengthless dead,
And find unwithered on its curls
The Garland briefer than a girl's.
