Clarke American

Transacting America's Business®

Producing more than 9.6 billion checks a year at unmatched rates of accuracy and rapid delivery, Clarke American Checks, Inc. is one of the largest security printers of financial institution checks and forms in the United States. The company has more than 3,200 associates and a national network of electronically linked production facilities and customer service centers throughout the country. Annually, the company produces more than 50 mill' on orders of checks and share drafts* which are marketed through more than 4,500 banks, credit unions and other financial institutions.

Clarke American produces personal and business checks in a variety of designs, styles and formats. Financial institutions also rely on Clarke American for payment accessories, security products, miscellaneous forms, new account kits, counter items, letterchecks, labels, self-inking stamps, leather products, stationery accessories, marketing programs, recyclable security deposit bags and a complete line of treasury management documents. In the last few years, Clarke American has been active in a national program to help protect banks, retailers and consumers against check fraud. It participated in the development of industry-wide fraud prevention guidelines, and expanded its own security printing program to include enhanced fraud prevention measures at a level far beyond industry standards.

* A credit union shared draft is comparable to a bank check.

We currently have Account Executive opportunities for motivated professionals throughout the United States
