

An Insider's View of Primate Research

Matt Rossell

Shares his stories as a former Animal Technician at Oregon Health Sciences' Primate Research Center for two years, giving first-hand stories of the inhumane conditions there.

FREE! Wednesday, the 21st • 7pm FREE!
Rogue Room • EMU, U of O Campus
 For more info, visit: www.vivisectioninfo.org/ohsu

Eat till the cows come home!

Holy Cow in the afternoon! By popular demand, we've extended our hours until 7pm Monday through Thursday. To celebrate, treat a friend to a free meal.

Buy 1 Meal
 (3pm - 7pm M-Th)

2 for 1

& your friend eats free!

equal or lesser value / expires March 23, 2001

Lack of quorum ends PFC hearings

■ The Programs Finance Committee passes one budget, tables two others

By Beata Mostafavi
 Oregon Daily Emerald

In the last week of budget hearings, the Programs Finance Committee postponed the Black Student Union's hearing because not enough PFC members could vote for the group's budget.

The PFC decided that committee member Lawrence Gillespie could be perceived as having a conflict of interest with the group's budget because he is a former BSU member. Only four PFC members attended the meeting, and PFC rules require that at least four committee members vote. Since Gillespie couldn't vote, the PFC chose to postpone the BSU's hearing.

This is the second time the PFC has postponed a group's hearing due to lack of quorum, or not having enough voting members. The Multicultural Center's budget hearing was postponed for the same reason.

PFC Chairwoman Mary Elizabeth Madden said that absent PFC members haven't consistently caused a huge problem, but in the last few meetings, lack of attendance has forced the committee to postpone two group budgets.

Although the BSU will have to return for a hearing, the American Institute of Architecture Student's budget was approved.

The AIAS asked for a 32.2 percent increase, but the PFC gave the AIAS a 1 percent decrease instead because the group had a high rollover from last year. Gillespie encouraged the organization to spend its budget wisely next year, so it will have a better chance of getting more funds.

"If you can show that you can be fiscally responsible, then maybe you'll be able to get an increase

Hearing Results:

Black Student Union
First Hearing	tabled
Second Hearing	$0
Appeal	postponed

Chess Club
First Hearing	$0
Appeal	$300

American Institute of Architecture Students
First Hearing	$0
Appeal	$905

next year," he said.

All groups have until 5 p.m. Tuesday to appeal their budgets. Beyond this deadline, they will have to appeal to the ASUO Senate.

Schatzel/Stolle

continued from page 1

A: Mac Court. From what I've heard, it was the whole lower ring, all the green seats, and now it's 35 to 40 percent of that is students, and the rest is alumni. So our goal would be to get it all back. But I think with the alumni you're dealing with a lot of money, a lot of power.

Q: Recent history shows a tense relationship between the ASUO Executive and University President Dave Frohnmayer. Do you plan on improving that relationship and, if so, how?

A: I would think just saying, "Hey, Dave." I've met him before a couple of times and he seems like

“ We want to get back all the student seats in Mac Court.

Brad Schatzel
 candidate for ASUO president ”

a nice guy. Just be like, "I'm the new president. This is my VP, Kev.

Here's what we want to do. The trouble in the past I'd like to be water under the bridge." When I was hanging out at Johnson Hall last year, I thought the way Dave handled himself and handled the problem was really professional and the way to go.

Q: How would you do things differently than current President Jay Breslow and Vice President Holly Magner?

A: They were the new kids on the block, but I don't know what they've done other than the voter drive. But we have the one campaign promise and that's it.

Law School 101

An Introduction to Legal Education for Students of Color

Friday, February 23

Program begins at 9:45 am and ends at 2:00 pm

William W. Knight Law Center
 1515 Agate St., University of Oregon

To Register please contact Teresa Specht:
 (541) 346-1810 or
tspecht@law.uoregon.edu

No Fee to Attend

You are invited to attend break-out sessions with current law students and discuss timely current events that affect the legal profession and all of us as citizens. Program activities include a simulated law class, lunch and an admissions information session.

The program includes remarks by Ibrahim Gassama, Associate Professor at the University of Oregon School of Law and distinguished recipient of several awards for his contribution to human rights. Most recently, Gassama was honored with the SALT award for his work on behalf of South Africa and its citizens. Also speaking is Associate Professor Keith Aoki. He has served on the editorial board of the Harvard Environmental Law Review and on the editorial staff of the Harvard Civil Rights-Civil Liberties Law Review. A highlight of the program is a film about Native American issues and experience. Introducing and discussing the film is Dean of the UO law school, Rennard Strickland, a distinguished legal scholar and specialist in Native American law and heritage.