of the losses, we are expanding our program as we fight through this." The sellout crowd — the sixth this season — showed its admiration for the Oregon seniors, in particular Flo Hartenstein, who received a standing ovation after fouling out with 17:14. Saturday's game was Hartenstein's 109th in his four-year career as a Duck.

Unless the Ducks host an NIT first-round game, Saturday's game was the last at Mac Court for seniors Bracey, Hartenstein, Julius Hicks and David Jackson.

There is still a possibility that Oregon could be heading to the National Invitation Tournament. The Ducks need one more win to be eligible, and two to essentially solidify a spot. Oregon will take on Arizona State and Arizona in Tempe and Tucson this weekend, and Oregon State in Corvallis next weekend.

If the Ducks do win two more games and make the NIT, in all likelihood they will host a first-round game at McArthur Court. That game could, theoretically, be televised on ESPN.

Maybe Vitale will get a chance to comment on Oregon before the season is over.

"I love 'em, baby!" Vitale would say, just like he did commenting on that up-and-down Maryland team.

"But they kill me. They kill me!" I couldn't have said it better.

ing for an excuse. Oregon has so much potential, but most of it hasn't grown up yet. Ridnour runs the team well, but hasn't developed a scorer's touch that makes him a legitimate threat to other teams. Luke Jackson is the complete package — he proved that with a triple-double against Washington — but hasn't been consistent. James Davis is a good shooter, but that's all that Kent will put him in games for.

In the end, there's always a little part of the Duck fan that believes in Oregon basketball, because of those brilliant spurts. No matter how many times they lose, no matter how much the postseason fades from view, the Ducks always give hope to their fans.

in the semifinals and both fell by decision.

Overstake put up a heroic effort against Arizona State's Dana Holland but an escape in the last two seconds, coupled with riding time advantage, gave Holland the win.

"Tony wrestled with real courage tonight," Kearney said. "That's the kind of kid he is. Unfortunately he got some takedowns at the end of each round. We'll know in the morning if he'll wrestle."

Harris sustained a split lower lip and hyperextended left knee against top-seeded Kirk White of Boise State, in addition to two unanswered takedowns for a 4-0 loss. Harris' condition is listed as day-to-day status, and may not wrestle today in the consolation semifinals.

After setbacks in the opening rounds of the tournament, sophomore Casey Hunt and freshman Luke Larwin find themselves still alive in consolation round play.

Hunt went 2-1 on the day, falling only to finalist Shane Cunnanan of Oregon State in the quarterfinals. The transfer from Portland State defeated Cal State-Fullerton's John Blalock and Cal State-Bakersfield's Zhon Kuraspediani and is guaranteed of a top-six placing.

"Casey had a real tough day but wrestled good," Kearney said. "We knew what he was capable of, it just came down to a couple of matches."

consolation wins. The true freshman earned an escape to defeat Cal Poly-San Luis Obispo's Brody Barrios and earned a late takedown to defeat Fullerton's Lionel Sanchez, 3-1.

"Luke is really starting to put things together," Kearney said. "He's had a tough season and a real good tournament."

All wrestlers in the consolation round can still qualify for the NCAA tournament if they reach the third place final. An additional three at-large bids will also be awarded.

Junior Leif Williams wrestled for the last time in an Oregon singlet. The Pleasant Hill native was eliminated from the 174-pound bracket after two losses. Williams graduates this spring and is leaving the team following this season.

Arizona State remains the favorite with five finalists while Oregon, Oregon State and Boise State each have three — meaning the race should come down to the wire and will depend heavily on how each wrestler performs.

"Our concentration is on tomorrow morning's matches," Kearney said. "We've been able to hang onto third and might be able to come through the back door on Arizona State."

The tournament continues today at 11 a.m. with the consolation semifinals, followed by third and fifth place championship matches. At 6 p.m., all finalists will be paraded through Mac Court before their championship matches.

Championship finals will be televised by Fox Sports Northwest at 6:30 p.m.

Horoscope by Linda C. Black

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Feb. 26). All your planning could pay off this year with riches beyond your wildest imagination. Ask for more than you think you're worth in March and get it by April. Devote most of May to learning what you need to know, and June to fixing up your place the way you want it. Love comes into your life around July and helps you set priorities straight. Make more work for yourself in August and you'll generate more income, too. Pay for an expert's advice in September, and save by using your own talent to fix your place in October. A surprising career development is in your favor in December, and you're paid back for past good deeds next February.

To get the advantage, check the day's rating: 10 is the easiest day, 0 the most challenging.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Today is a 9—The hard part is behind you, so take on new challenges. Your status is also on the rise. You're getting to be known for your courage, honesty and willingness to take a risk. Do it safely, if possible.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Today is a 6—Wheeling and dealing behind the scenes could be profitable. Quick action will be required, so you should have already done the homework. If you haven't, you could miss a great deal. Just don't let it happen again.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21) — Today is a 9—Your social calendar is packed. There's no time for work because you have too many friends to visit. If the people you work with are your friends, congratulations—you're in the right job. Today you'll be successful.

CANCER (June 22-July 22) — Today is a 6—You may have to do something you tried to put off forever. If it's a mess that needs cleaning up, it's not of your making. Be cheerful about it, and you'll take seven steps closer to sainthood.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Today is a 9—You're active, enthusiastic and outgoing. You could steal the show, even with high-powered people around you, because you're so charming. You'll win their hearts and maybe their minds. You're irresistible!

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Today is a 7—Hurry to get the house whipped into shape. The work you do now could last for a long time, so get it right. Use all the labor-saving devices you can find, so you'll have time to relax before dawn.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct 22) — Today is a 9—There are interesting conversations going on, and one of them may look like an argument. Your natural reaction is to present the opposing point of view, but the other guy's going to win this one. At least make him or her feel that way.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Today is a 7—There's enough work to be done, but don't leap into it. Make sure you have a written contract before you start. If this is your own mess, it may be hard to charge yourself the time-and-a-half you deserve.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Today is a 9—You're creative and imaginative. You may even be turning into the person you'd always hoped to be. If the person you've always wanted to be with is nearby, be alluring. It works better with those passionate types.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Today is a 7—You've got something on your mind that needs to be resolved, maybe a secret that needs to be told. A private place is best for this conversation. You may have to keep talking until everything's worked out.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Today is a 9—You're learning quickly from friends. Somebody else's bizarre idea can really turn you on. Don't hurt anybody who's in between you and the information you want.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Today is a 7—The trap you've been working on is about to be sprung, so why are you so nervous? The planning is done, and it's time for action. Timing is extremely important, but you'll have to follow a hunch.
