I am eager to listen to the views and needs of all students, and represent the student population in a fair and impartial way. So please, vote for Sean Henderson.

Students having a voice on campus is my highest priority. As an undeclared student I am aware of many of the issues that we are facing.

I have been working hard in order to achieve fair housing, for students. The current contract system is unfair and not in the best interest of the students. As a current senator I have tried to tackle this issue and many others. There are many areas that students should be concerned about.

The incidental fee has been rising, and the administration continues to balance their budgets are our backs. We need student senators who are not afraid to stand up for student rights. I have worked hard for undeclared students this year and would appreciate the same opportunity in the future.

Any seat on our Student Senate is one that requires a sense of leadership, involvement on campus and a working knowledge of how the incidental fee system works. With that said, a vote for me in the upcoming elections would ensure all of those qualities. I am a sophomore journalism major focusing in electronic media and have wasted no time since coming to the University of Oregon all the way from sunny San Diego. Last year I hit the ground running when I jumped onto the ASUO Elections Board as Publicity Coordinator, an experience that gave me an appreciation for the duties those in student government perform. If you are a freshman here at the U of O, you may have met me over the summer when I was on the Student Orientation Staff; a position that gave me an even greater appreciation for our fine school. This year I have kept myself busy. I am a Student Ambassador, giving tours once a week among other things as well as joining Delta Tau Delta, a fraternity on campus. My experiences so far this year have given me a greater passion to serve the students of this campus. If you elect me as the next Student Senator for Journalism and Arts and Letters students, I will waste no time getting out there in the attempt to hear what you have to say and work to make positive changes for all students.

As a returning senate member, I understand the importance of experience on the student senate. I campaigned on the issues of giving a voice to my peers and representing their needs, both of which have been accomplished. My continuous fight to uphold the student incidental fee system demonstrates my success in fighting for student's interests. As a senator, my involvement extends beyond student government into the Greek system, faculty-student committees and various special interest/honor societies. Throughout this year, the senate has made several decisions that contend precedent set by last year's senate. This is due in large part to the small amount of returning senators, making it important that this next year's senate have a larger number of returning senators to uphold the decisions and ensure a smooth transition with the incoming senate

Dan Isaacson

My fellow students, today it gives me great pleasure to announce my candidacy for ASUO. I welcome the opportunity to serve my school as I have done so diligently in the past. I believe that my community involvement and prior student government experience speak for my commitment to my school and those of you I will represent. As your ASUO Senator I will serve the office with honor and integrity.

From the offices of United States Senator Ron Wyden and the Mayor of Grants Pass, Gordon Anderson; to receiving The National Youth Leadership Award and Congressional Leadership Award, I have voluntarily served people of all backgrounds and ideologies, both Democrat and Republican, without bias.

After talking at length with students and campus leaders, I am ready to fight for the issues and needs that concern all students at the UO. From providing better accountability and public awareness of the use of incidental fees, to working with off campus housing to lower skyrocketing rents; from increasing voter turnout and bipartisan rallies to pushing for more State and Federal funds for daycare and other student programs. I will fight for you, all of you, so vote for Dan

Steven Lockfield

Hello, my name is Steven Lockfield, a history major, and I am running for ASUO Senate as the representative of the Social Science majors. I want to be your Senator because I will speak for the students within our academic interests. It will be my duty, if elected, to be fully accessible to my peers so I may listen and propose your ideas. That is what I believe what a representative should do. I have had much experience in student governments. I have been Vice-President, President, and later Student Judicial Advocate during my four years in high school. Presently I am actively involved as the representative of McClain Hall in the Hamilton Complex Government and as a member of the Peer Judicial Board. I am a compassionate, honest, inquisitive, and a responsible hard worker. Though most of my ideas for proposals will be based on your input, I do want to push for the following:

- Reform in representation of the student population
- The improvement of the welfare for both Social Science majors and the greater student community

I look forward to working for you and I am always available for questions or suggestions at my e-mail address, Hawkeye791@aol.com. Thank you

Gregory McNeill

Dear Voter,

I am running for an A.S.U.O. senate seat. This is a position that involves managing and distributing the incidental fees you pay. These fees are the U of O's tax on students that are used for various student services and activities. This position also includes representing students on a variety of issues in a variety of bodies.

In my position as a senator I will work to insure that every student is able to maximize the use they get out of their incidental fees. Students should be able to get what they pay for and I plan to insure that every student does. I find it unacceptable that a student would pay for a service they don't use. In my position as a senator I will work to insure that you the taxpaying student will be given what you pay for.

Senators also are responsible for representing the students of this university on a variety of student faculty bodies. In this capacity I will do the best of my ability to represent the interests and views of the students of this institution, even if those interests differ from my own.

I'm looking out for you.

Thank you, Gregory McNeill

The senate controls about $5.4 million a year of student fee money- your money. The process of allocating these funds should be fair and straightforward. But sometimes it's not. When the system doesn't work perfectly it is often because of inexperience or personal politics. I have experience with the senate system, I have been an ASUO intern, and worked with some of the largest student groups on campus.

My personal goal is to get your money to the places you want it.

I will do this by considering every request that comes before the senate objectively and fairly. So, vote for me.

Maco Stewart

Students pay a substantial sum of money to attend the University of Oregon, and the purpose of the university should be to serve them to the best of its ability. Generally this goal is accomplished, but when students try to better their situations our voices often go unheard. I think it is a shame that students have so little input regarding the way our school is run, and that our opinions are often ignored by those in power. The current project to commission officers of the Department of Public Safety is a perfect example of the way in which major decisions are made without student input.

If elected, I will do my best to change that. I believe in student control, to whatever degree is reasonable. I shall do everything in my power both to express the will of the student body to the proper authorities and to encourage student involvement in political life. I especially support groups like the College Republicans and Democrats, OSPIRG, campus publications and Greek organizations.

With tuition costs rising students deserve a voice in their own affairs more than ever before, and I am committed to making that voice heard. Vote Maco Stewart for Senate!
