

Rowdy Roddy Piper
Hacksaw Jim Duggan
Maniac Matt Bourne
Curt Henning-Mr. Perfect
Dan Severn-Honky Tonk Man
Sabu - Miss Pittsburgh

UO CULTURAL FORUM
AND PDX WRESTLING
PRESENT

ANARCHY AT PIPER'S PIT

FRIDAY MAY 11, 2001 7:30
AT MAC COURT

TICKETS ON SALE NOW

$10 RESERVED BALCONY SEATING
$15 FLOOR & BLEACHERS
$20 RINGSIDE
$2 OFF WITH VALID STUDENT ID

TICKETS AVAILABLE AT UO TICKET OFFICE (346-4363)
AND ALL FASTIXX LOCATIONS (1-800-992-TIXX) OR FASTIXX.COM

Double insanity:
Kings even series

By Ken Peters
The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Felix Potvin got his second shutout in a row and Glen Murray scored 2:41 into the second overtime Sunday night to give the Los Angeles Kings a 1-0 victory over the Colorado Avalanche and force a seventh game.

The Kings can become the 17th team to overcome a 3-1 series deficit to win a series — including two comebacks from 3-0 — with a win Wednesday night in Denver.

Murray's slap shot from 50 feet bounced off the right skate of Roy — who was leaning to his left — and slid into the net to end what had been a goaltending showcase.

Potvin, who also blanked Colorado 1-0 in Game 5 at Denver on Friday, stopped 33 shots and ran his string of scoreless minutes to 164 minutes and 28 seconds.

Roy faced 32 shots before Murray's shot finally slipped past him to end the fourth shutout of this series.

The Kings, who rallied from an 0-2 deficit in their opening series against Detroit to win in six games, had trailed the Avalanche 3-1 in their Western Conference semifinal before winning two in a row.

Notes

Los Angeles improved its overtime record to 4-0 in these playoffs. The Kings beat the Red Wings and Avalanche twice each in the extra session.

Colorado captain Joe Sakic, who missed most of the last three playoff games with a sore shoulder, returned Sunday.

Sakic, the NHL's second-leading scorer during the regular season with 118 points, bruised his right shoulder early in Game 3 in Los Angeles.

Potvin stopped six shots and Roy stopped four in the first overtime. Ziggy Palffy rifled a 12-footer at Roy 1:35 into the period, but the Colorado goalie stabbed the puck with his glove.

Dan Hinote's slap shot from the right circle at 16:22 of the first overtime was one of Colorado's best chances, but Potvin blocked it.

A Kings' mistake — too many men on the ice — gave the Avalanche a man advantage with 47 seconds left in regulation, but the Colorado power play again seemed disorganized as the clock ticked down.

The rest of the advantage was negated when Avalanche defenseman Ray Bourque was penalized for tripping with six seconds left before overtime.

The Avalanche outshot the Kings 8-7 in the third, but they also misfired on several good chances. Sakic's backhand from near the crease sailed wide of the goal, then moments later his 20-foot slap shot also was wide on a play when Potvin appeared to be screened.

Eric Belanger had one of the Kings' best opportunities in the third period, but Roy blocked his shot from just to the right of the crease at 8:04.

Colorado, which seemed to be back on its heels in the first period, finally put some pressure on Potvin in the second, although Los Angeles outshot the Avalanche 12-10 in the period.

When was the last time you told your professor what and how you wanted to study?

Welcome to Peer Health Ed

Fall Term ELTA 407

- WRITE → Be a published author.
- INNOVATE → Program events in recognition of special dates.
- TALK → Teach classmates about health issues important to you.
- CREATE → Free the artist inside you.
- FORTIFY → Strengthen your resume without getting a job.

CONTACT Annie Dochnahl for more about this innovative program: 346-2843 or Dochnahl@oregon.uoregon.edu or SURF <http://healthed.uoregon.edu>

Make it Happen!