personal best, while her hammer toss was less than three feet short of her personal best and school record in the event.

"Mo had a really good day," Heinonen said.

Malone, on the other hand, didn't have such a great day Saturday. Expecting to win the javelin throw, the freshman threw well under her personal best to finish second.

"I'm kind of disappointed with my throw," Malone said. "I'm kind of on again, off again."

Malone lost out to Southern California's Inga Stasiuluyionyte, who has battled Malone all year at the top of the national list. Malone, who said she throws better at home, will get another shot at Stasiuluyionyte, and the NCAA title, when the NCAA Championships come to Hayward Field May 30-June 2.

While Malone was disappointed Saturday, Oregon sophomore long jumper Amanda Brown was likely elated with her performance. After jumping the Pac-10 qualifying distance of 19-2 earlier in the season, Brown failed to jump that mark again, until the Pac-10s. The sophomore jumped 19-3 3/4 Saturday to finish seventh in the event.

On the track, the Ducks were hit hard by the loss of sophomore Eri Macdonald. Macdonald suffered a stress fracture to her left fibula last week, and after trying to run at the Pac-10s she discovered it to be too painful to participate.

Senior Hanna Smedstad picked up for Macdonald's loss by finishing eighth in the 10,000-meter race. Smedstad was the only Oregon runner to pick up points for the team.

minuses at these meets," Heinonen said.

Oregon throwers made up for the minuses on the track, and threw long and hard for the Ducks this weekend. Besides Morrison's performances in the discus and hammer, Mary Etter placed fourth in the discus, 11th in the shot put and 12th in the hammer. Sophomore Jordan McDaniels finished 11th in the hammer and 12th in the discus.

Behind Malone in the hammer, sophomore Charyl Weingarten used a personal best throw of 155-6 to finish fourth and land on the NCAA provisional list.
