

50¢ OFF
Any Yogurt*

(*Except small cones and tinsies. Expires 7/4/01)

Campus SUBSHOP
Mon.-Fri. 10am-10pm
Sat. 11am-9pm
Sun. 12pm-9pm
1225 Alder
345-2434

Not valid with any other discounts or coupons. One coupon per customer.

HONEY HILL FARMS

PHOTO SPECIALS

JUNE 25 - JULY 1

MAKE A PHOTO CD FROM YOUR NEGATIVES:

Only $6.99 (Reg $8.99)

From 35mm or APS color negative film. Prints must also be ordered.

FUJICOLOR PROCESSING

UNIVERSITY of OREGON BOOKSTORE

www.uobookstore.com

Sports brief

Bourque to retire

DENVER — Raymond Bourque appears ready to end his NHL career on top.

The Colorado Avalanche have called a Tuesday news conference for 2 p.m. ET in Denver, and ESPN has confirmed that Bourque will announce his retirement.

The team would only say that the star defenseman will make an announcement about his hockey career. While the team would not reveal what Bourque, 40, planned to announce, the Denver Post said Bourque will retire after 22 NHL seasons, primarily for family reasons.

The highest-scoring defenseman in NHL history said previously he wants to spend more time with his family after more than two decades in the NHL. Bourque had a 22-year wait before winning the championship, the longest in NHL history.

Bourque's Boston-based agent, Steve Freyer, said Bourque had made a decision about his future, but Freyer wouldn't reveal what it was.

Bourque played for 21 seasons in Boston, but he requested a trade to a contender in March 2000 in hopes of winning an NHL title. He finally got it when the Avalanche beat the New Jersey Devils for the Stanley Cup earlier this month.

Tears streaming down his face, he hoisted the Stanley Cup on the ice at Pepsi Center, the same facility where he will make his retirement announcement on Tuesday at noon MT.

During a parade for the Avalanche through the streets of downtown Denver two days after capturing the cup June 9, Bourque said, "Do I really want to come back? I'm 40 years old. I could play, no doubt about that. I played Game 7 two days ago, and I played pretty well."

"It's not a matter of whether you can or can't play. You've got to look at it mentally, physically. It's not the easiest thing to play when you're 40 years old. It takes a lot of energy."

Although he parried questions about his future, saying he would announce his decision in a few weeks, he has talked recently about family concerns.

If Bourque retires, the Avs would save $5.5 million — the difference between his 2001-02 salary of $6.5 million and a $1 million buyout. That would help the Avalanche pursue their marquee free agents: Joe Sakic, Rob Blake and Patrick Roy.

The Associated Press

Ems

continued from page 7

Monday's game was a much closer affair. The Ems and Canadians traded fistfuls of runs all game, and eventually sent the game to extra innings tied 7-7.

The Ems had a chance to win the game in the bottom of the ninth, when John Puccinelli led off with a single. Pinch runner Eddie Serrano was advanced to third after a single and a ground out. Shortstop Jason Bartlett — who had been 2-3 with a triple up until that point — had a chance to win the game but struck out.

The Canadians went quietly in the top of the 10th, and the Ems pounced right away in the bottom of the first extra inning. Second baseman John DiBetta singled to left and designated hitter Greg Sain was hit by a pitch. The next batter, catcher Nick Trzesniak, got the remaining fans out of their seats with a deep fly ball to cen-

"We'll win our share of games. Of course I'm disappointed we didn't win, but there were a lot of good things that happened out there."

Jeff Gardner
manager,
Ems

ter, but merely succeeded in advancing DiBetta to third. The next two Ems batters were retired, ending the Ems' hopes for a win in that inning.

"We had our chances," Gardner said. "We could have won the game a couple of times."

In the top of the 11th inning, the Canadians' Sandy Madera walked, reached second on a sacrifice bunt, then scored on left fielder Joe Cirone's single to left-center field. Cirone was sacrificed to second, then catcher Jorge Soto walked. Canadians shortstop J.P. Schmidt scored what would be the winning run with a single up the middle.

At 11:03 p.m., the game finally ended, without much of the Eugene crowd around to see the finish.

The Ems conclude their home stand with Vancouver tonight at 7:05 p.m.

741-4676

Free applications and listings 24 hours at 637 B Street, downtown Springfield

Sunset Arms Apartments, Southeast Eugene
3530 W. Amazon, 434-6179.....1 bedroom $455
484 W. 13th #A, tri-plex.....2 bedroom $495
1647 Mill #3.....2 bedroom $525

Willowbrook Apartments, West Eugene
29840 Willow Creek, 342-8275.....2 bedroom $575

Mill Race Apartments, behind Track Town Pizza
1805 Garden Ave, 344-5695.....2 bedroom $575
2120 W. 18th, duplex.....3 bedroom $595

Prague Apartments, Great Value!!!
2447 Roosevelt Blvd, 689-7104.....3 bedroom $595
1400 Villard, house.....2+ bedroom $750

www.emeraldpm.com

EMERALD
Property Management, Inc.

SUMMER IS HEATING UP!

at The Pizza Pipeline

EUGENE 686-5808 SPRINGFIELD 746-7666

16" Large 2-item Pizza PLUS 2 FREE 24 oz. soft drinks

$10.95

Medium 1-topping Pizza

$7.50

Not valid with any other offer. Limited delivery area. EXPIRES 7/2/01

OREGON HUMANITIES CENTER
UNIVERSITY OF OREGON

Tune in to UO Today!

THE OREGON HUMANITIES CENTER PRESENTS A 30 MINUTE WEEKLY TELEVISION SHOW THAT TAKES YOU INSIDE THE UNIVERSITY.

Humanities Center Director Steve Shankman interviews faculty, staff, and visiting lecturers about their research and interests.

UPCOMING PROGRAMS:

June 27, 2001	Don Peting, Architecture
July 4, 2001	Peter Coyote, guest lecturer/Creative Writing
July 11, 2001	Richard Linton, Dean of the Graduate School and Vice Provost For Research
	Debra Gwartney, Creative Writing
July 18, 2001	Diana Myers, Cressman Lecturer
July 25, 2001	William Cronon, Clark Lecturer
Aug. 1, 2001	Arun Gandhi, keynote, Waging Peace in the New Millennium
Aug. 8, 2001	Lisa Kloppenberg, School of Law; Caroline Forell, School of Law David Bradley, Creative Writing
Aug. 15, 2001	Lauren Kessler, Journalism and Communication Debra Merskin, Journalism and Communication
Aug. 22, 2001	John Dominic Crossan, Gaston Lecturer
Aug. 29, 2001	Laura Fair, History Mongo Beti, novelist
Sept. 5, 2001	Philip Levine, poet
Sept. 12, 2001	Frank Michelman, O'Fallon Lecturer

The new season begins September 19!

WEDNESDAYS - 8:00 PM - CHANNEL 12
UO Today is also broadcast on Channel 97 on Monday at 9:30 pm. Tuesday at 9:30 a.m., Thursday at 10:00 p.m. and Friday at 10:00 a.m.