rankings, expectations and pressure facing Oregon in 2001.

"Oregon has never been in this position before, and it's a little bit different, to tell you the truth," Harrington said about the national respect. "It's a much tougher process to be the favorite week in and week out."

"We're going to get everyone's best game this year," Peelle said. "We've got to play hard every snap."

The Oregon players agreed that the high expectations of fans, posters and players alike would make each game in the already-tough Pac-10 even tougher.

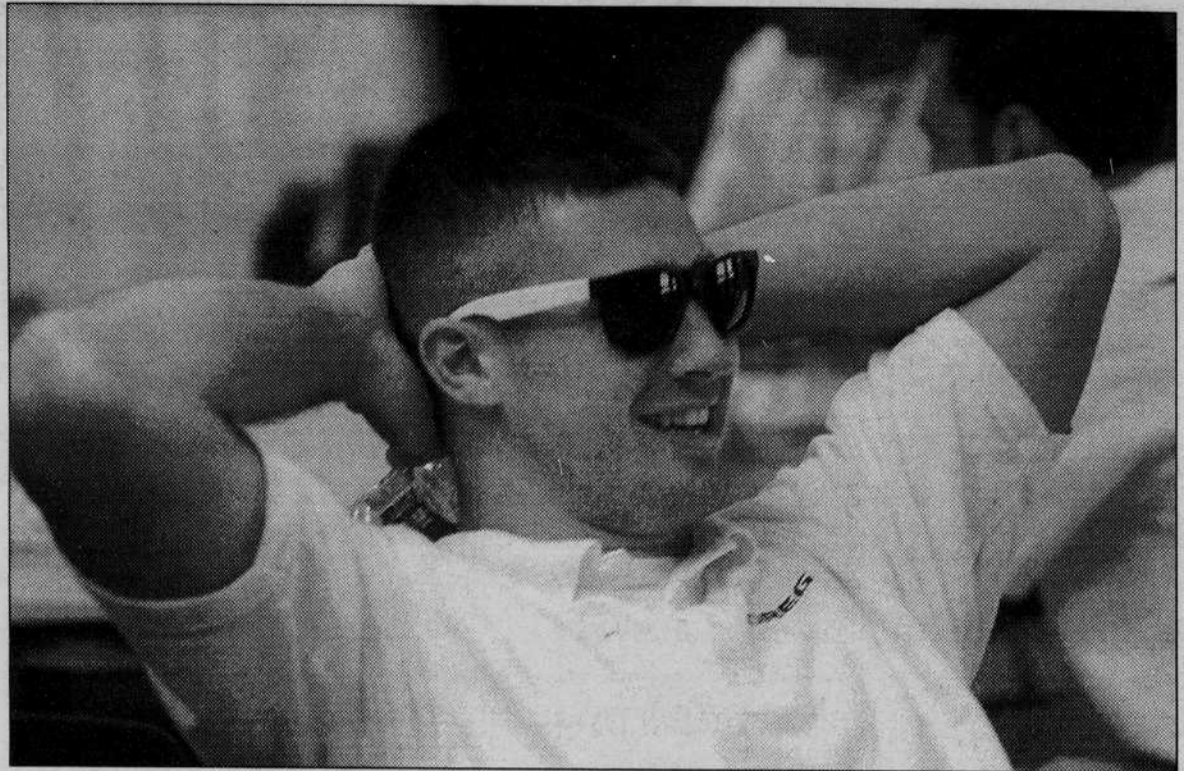

The Ducks will have to deal with that pressure immediately, on Sept. 1 at home against Wisconsin. Ranked 22nd by the AP and 23rd by the coaches, the Badgers offer Oregon a season-opening test and an opportunity to avenge last year's 27-23 loss in Madison, Wisc.

"I think it's great that we're opening with Wisconsin," Bellotti said. "I know [last year's loss] has been on the minds of our players, and I also know having that as a first game has helped them work a little harder in the offseason."

The Badgers will play once, at home against Virginia Aug. 25, before coming to Autzen Stadium. Bellotti said that might give Wisconsin a slight edge in the matchup.

"Playing a game is the fastest way to learn what kind of team you have, so that is a concern, that they will be a game up on us," Bellotti said.

Another game, farther down the schedule, has already caught Oregon's eye.

Joey Harrington is exceptionally relaxed for a quarterback on the cover of Sports Illustrated. He and the Ducks hope to live up to the hype.

Civil War.

"I want to win," said Harrington, who threw four interceptions in the Civil War loss to Oregon State last year. "That's not something to be ashamed of. I want to win because ... I'd just really love to win that football game."

If the seasons of Oregon and Oregon State play out the way they should according to rankings, the Ducks-Beavers matchup could determine a Pac-10 title and a trip to the National Championship at the Rose Bowl.

But for now, as Harrington said, "We just want to play football."

With the talking out of the way, Harrington and the Ducks can do just that.

Wisconsin and Utah Student Tickets available beginning August 20, 2001

Students are asked to wait 5 minutes before rushing the field so the visiting team can exit.

Only 2,500 tickets will be available for the Wisconsin and Utah games, so students should act quickly. 6,099 tickets will be available for the remaining games. Students enrolled for fall 2001 classes can pick up one ticket for each game at the ticket offices located in the EMU or Casanova Center. Student tickets are funded through student incidental fees. Any remaining students tickets will become available to students to purchase for their friends and family the week before game day.
