

{ FactSet Research Systems Inc. }

It's rewarding.
It's challenging.
It's FactSet.

FactSet is one of the leading providers of online information to the investment community. The company combines more than 100 databases from multiple suppliers into a single online source of information and analytics, including fundamental data on tens of thousands of global companies and securities. Our business has been remarkably stable, yet extremely profitable. We've experienced tremendous growth — increasing revenues in the range of 20 percent.

Most of all, we're a team of highly motivated, intelligent, fun people. At FactSet, teamwork and cooperation are harnessed to meet the changing needs of the financial community by continually upgrading our products and enhancing our service. In this dynamic environment, talented team players thrive.

Consultants

Consultants combine a thorough understanding of the entire FactSet system with a strong knowledge of finance and technology. Offering an unparalleled level of service, we assist clients in many ways, including: supporting FactSet applications and creating custom FactSet models, screens, and automation routines, training clients in their offices and at training seminars and providing creative solutions through expert telephone consultation and on-site consultation.

Requirements: Exceptional communication and interpersonal skills, familiarity with, or an interest in learning about, financial markets, excellent PC skills, sound working knowledge of spreadsheets and databases, desire to learn and grow in an ever-changing environment and a desire to travel.

Highly Desired: Knowledge of a programming language.

FactSet will be recruiting Consultants for its California location at the University of Oregon:
