Sports brief

Former Ducks win U.S. 10K championship
 Former Duck and Olympian Nick Rogers kicked to an eight-second win in the final 400 meters Saturday to win the USA men's 10K road championships at the Food World Senior Bowl Charity Run in Mobile, Ala. Rogers set a course record with his winning time of 28:18.
 Rogers bettered Todd Williams' 1994 record time of 28:25 by seven seconds. 2000 Olympian and former Arizona NCAA champion Abdi Abdirahman, the 2001 U.S. 10K champion on the track, finished second in 28:26. Dan Browne, the 2001 20K and half marathon champion, was third (28:31).

 In the women's race, Elva Dryer (32:43) was followed by Olympians Anne Marie Lauck (second 32:56) and Jen Rhines (third, 33:15). Collette Liss (33:24) and Cheri Kenah (33:32) rounded out the top five.
 Rogers' next race will be the Manchester Road Race, held in Manchester, Conn., on Thanksgiving Day. He finished fifth at the same race in 1999 as the top American finisher and was edged at the finish line in that race by another former Duck and British Olympian Karl Keska.

 In other road racing action this past weekend, another former Duck, Milena Glusac, finished second among Americans and 13th overall at the New York City Marathon (2:34.48), designated as the U.S. Marathon Championships. The runner-up distinction in her debut at the 26.26-mile distance added to an already accolade-filled season that included U.S. road titles at the 20K, half-marathon and 25K distances.

Pac-10

 There's also the quiet talk of one of these Northwest schools potentially sneaking up and having a chance at earning one of the spots in the Jan. 3 Rose Bowl, the site of this season's national championship game. To do so, a team would have to be ranked first or second in the final Bowl Championship Series rankings that will come out on Dec. 9.

 The latest BCS rankings were released Monday, with Oregon moving up to the sixth spot, Washington at eight and Washington State cracking the top-10 in the ninth position. Stanford is the only other Pac-10 team in there at No. 11, while UCLA dropped out after its loss to the Cougars.
 Ahead of the Ducks, from fifth to first, is Texas, Tennessee, Oklahoma, Miami and Nebraska.
 "It's nice to be (in the BCS), but the greatest thing is that we're in control of our own destiny in terms of the Pac-10 race," said Oregon head coach Mike Bellotti, who admitted Monday that he hadn't even looked at the BCS rankings. "That's the most immediate thing. Any thought beyond that is wasted time and wasted effort, in my opinion."
 A year ago, Washington and Oregon, along with Oregon State, all shared the Pac-10 co-championship. And this season, with the Cougars taking the Beavers' spot, the Northwest teams are again reigning supreme over their southern rivals.

 "It's been that way for awhile so I'm OK with that, and I'm just glad we're a part of it," Bellotti said.

Harrington earns Player of the Week

Oregon quarterback Joey Harrington helped out his Heisman Trophy campaign Saturday by throwing for six touchdowns and 319 yards in the Ducks' 42-24 win over Arizona State.
 For his efforts, the senior was honored as the Pac-10 offensive Player of the Week for the second time this season. Harrington also received the award after the Oregon win at Arizona.
 On the defensive side, Washington State safety Lamont Thompson was recognized for his four interceptions in the Cougars win over the Bruins. The four picks tied a Pac-10 record. Southern California's Troy Polamalu, a junior from Tempe, Ore., was the special teams honoree for his blocked punt against Oregon State.

 Despite Brown's Oregon ties, Jones said he won't go easy on the former Duck.
 "He's not a Duck anymore," Jones said with a smile.
 Kent said the Travelers represent a step forward in the 2001-02 season. Instead of scrimmaging with Ducks, the team will now scrimmage with Travelers, one of them an ex-Duck.

 "We've been beating each other up for the past few weeks, and it will be good to play someone else for a change," Kent said.
