Cross country

cross country course are senior Adam Bergquist, sophomores John Lucas and Brett Holts, redshirt freshmen Ryan Andrus and Eric Logsdon, and either sophomore Noel Paulson or true freshman Seth Pilkington.

Pilkington, who withdrew from the Furman Invitational and the Pacific-10 Championships, sat out of the Western Regionals to preserve his strength for the NCAAs. If he is capable of running, the young prospect, who finished second on the team in his collegiate debut, will race as one of the seven Oregon harriers.

Hartmann, who will try to keep pace with the top runners in the country at the head of the pack, is feeling confident for this race.

"I feel like I'm ready to go," he said. "This meet is what I've been training for all summer long and this fall, and I'm healthy and strong."

Bergquist may run his own race tactically, while the other Oregon runners will try to stay together in a pack.

With 255 runners competing, this is the biggest and best field the Ducks have faced this season, Smith said.

"It'll be an awesome experience," Bergquist said. "I've read the results the past four years, so it will be really fun to finally experience it for the first time."

Green Bay on Saturday.

A bucket by senior Edniesha Curry gave Oregon a 34-33 lead early in the second half, but the Phoenix dominated the rest of the game with a balanced offensive attack, which had five players score in double figures.

"The way their offense looks is how our offense is supposed to look," Williams said of the Phoenix's inside-out game.

Oregon travels to Portland on Tuesday to take on the Pilots for a 7 p.m. tip-off.
