HEISMAN WATCH

Make the plane reservations for New York and buy the tux...

Rex Grossman • QB • Florida

This Season: Has completed 226 passes in 344 attempts for 3,534 yards with 32 touchdowns and 11 interceptions

This week: vs. No. 5 Tennessee

No one has ever won the Heisman as a sophomore, but Grossman could be the first. Grossman has already passed for more than 50 touchdowns in his career at Florida, and he's still got two more seasons left. Florida is No. 2 in the BCS poll, and barring an upset, will be in Pasadena on Jan. 3.

Ken Dorsey • QB • Miami

This Season: Is 164-of-275 passing for 2,432 yards. Has thrown for 22 touchdowns and nine interceptions

This week: at No. 13 Virginia Tech

This is one guy who is in the Heisman race at the wrong time. He should get points for leading Miami to one of only two undefeated records in the country so far this season (BYU is the other) and a possible Rose Bowl appearance. With the exception of wins over Syracuse and Washington in the last two weeks, Dorsey has not dominated teams like a Heisman Trophy candidate should.

Joey Harrington • QB • Oregon

This Season: Is 175-of-300 passing and 2,310 yards, with 23 touchdowns and five interceptions

This week: vs. Oregon State
Another guy, who, in another season, may have won the trophy. Oregon's one-two punch in the backfield, Maurice Morris and Onterrio Smith have kept his numbers relatively modest. But his touchdown to interception ratio, nine fourth quarter comebacks and 23-3 record are impressive.

Eric Crouch • QB • Nebraska

This Season: Has completed 105 passes in 189 attempts for 1,510 yards, seven touchdowns and 10 interceptions, and rushed for 1,115 yards in 203 attempts

This week: Idle
Just because the Huskers lost to Colorado last week should not drop him out of the race. He has kept Nebraska a winner with his ingenuity. Crouch will make the NFL, but like many option QBs produced by the Cornhuskers, he may move to another position.

Needs a life preserver, but still in the running...

David Carr • QB • Fresno State
Roy Williams • S • Oklahoma
Kurt Kittner • QB • Illinois
