

Auto Pros Inc.
LOCALLY OWNED

LUBE, OIL, FILTER
• Chassis Lube • New Oil Filter • Up to 5 Qts.
10W-30 Kendall Oil • Clean Front Window
• Vacuum Front Floor Boards

$15.99
3/4 or 1-ton & Extra Cab Trucks Additional

Kendall MOTOR OIL
FOR THE PROTECTION

DOWNTOWN
1320 Willamette
485-2356
*2975 West 11th
344-0007

OPEN Sundays 11-4

GOODYEAR
11 IN TIRES

after this, the corporate ladder will be a piece of [cake]

In the course of facing challenges like this, you'll learn how to think on your feet. Stay cool under pressure. Take charge. Talk to an Army ROTC rep. You'll find there's nothing like a little climbing to help prepare you for getting to the top.

ARMY ROTC
Unlike any other college course you can take.

APPLY NOW FOR PAID SUMMER LEADERSHIP TRAINING AND ARMY OFFICER OPPORTUNITIES
Call 346-ROTC

The OSU MBA:
It's not just technology that sets us apart.

In as little as nine months, you could earn an MBA from Oregon State. And this isn't just any MBA.

Our curriculum features an innovative approach to the integration of technology in business. And you'll also gain solid management skills in designing and implementing business plans, new venture development, and organizational management.

Plus, we offer evening and part-time options so that you can work classes into your busy schedule and start the program any term.

If you want to stand out in the crowd, get the MBA that sets you apart.

Join us for
MBA INFORMATION NIGHT
Wednesday, Feb. 13th
6:30p.m.
Memorial Union
Room 211
OSU Campus, Corvallis

For more info:
541-737-6031
MBAEM@bus.oregonstate.edu
www.bus.orst.edu/MBA

OREGON STATE UNIVERSITY COLLEGE OF BUSINESS

Open minds. Open doors.™

APPLY NOW! PRIORITY DEADLINE FOR FALL TERM IS MAR. 1st!

Women's

continued from page 9

going to give it all we have."

Perfect on the road, the Cardinal come to McArthur Court tonight at 7 p.m. to challenge the Ducks in what could be the most important game of the season for Oregon.

The Ducks (12-10 overall, 7-6 Pac-10) are falling fast, having lost their last two games by a combined 25 points.

However, Oregon played their toughest game of the season Jan. 13 when they visited Stanford at Maples Pavilion. The Ducks stayed close to the Cardinal before losing by 15, but that margin was not indicative of the way they played.

"We watched film after that game, and we just did the little things wrong," senior Alyssa Fredrick said. "If we can correct those, I think we'll be in pretty good shape against them this time."

In their first meeting, the Ducks were able to hold Yamasaki, an Oregon native, to 12 points in 21 minutes. However, Powell lit the Ducks up, collecting a Stanford-record 21 rebounds and posting 23 points.

The two represent a majority of the Stanford offense, but certainly not all of it.

"They are pretty well-rounded as a team," Fredrick said. "Even if we stop (Powell and Yamasaki), I'm sure they'll have (Lauren) St. Clair shooting threes. We just have to focus on them as a team, not individuals."

The Cardinal, who haven't won a national championship since the 1991-92 season, are on a roll and almost a cinch to win the conference title, as they are three-and-a-half games ahead of second place Arizona State (18-6, 9-4).

"We have to look at Stanford and break them down and see what their strengths are and how to take them away," Oregon head coach Bev Smith said. "We need play against those strengths that they have instead of playing against the whole Stanford tradition."

Of concern to the Ducks is the size of the Stanford frontcourt. The Ducks have outrebounded their opponents in four of their last five games, but have not played a team with Stanford's ability.

But the one place Oregon may have the advantage is in the backcourt. Senior Edniesha Curry and junior Shaquala Williams are two of the Pac-10's best guards. Stanford has St. Clair and freshman Kelly Suminski, but is relatively young at the position.

"I think their size hurts us because they will post up Yamasaki and Powell against our smaller guards, but I think we can challenge them with our quickness," Smith said.

Whatever the result, if Oregon plays well against the vaunted Cardinal, it could be a confidence builder for the team's remaining four games.

"I think it's a huge game for us in the sense that we have to compete and see where it takes us, and we might play our best friggin' game of the year, but that doesn't mean we'll win," Smith said.

E-mail reporter Hank Hager at hankhager@dailyemerald.com.

Harris

continued from page 9

just grabs his gear and gets going."

Harris has had a few setbacks throughout his career at Oregon, primarily because of knee injuries. Soon after spring term 2001, Harris had surgery on both knees.

The rest of the Oregon team understands what Harris has dealt with, and they appreciate his all-out effort in every drill. Redshirt freshman Shane Webster, who wrestles in the 174-pound weight class just above Harris' 165-pounds, said every aspect of his wrestling has improved thanks to having the opportunity to drill with Harris.

"It's a privilege to work out with him," Webster said. "The way he is wrestling right now, I can see him winning it all."

Besides wrestling, there are other aspects of Harris' life that keep him busy. A psychology major and father of a 4-year-old girl, Harris plans to attend graduate school after receiving his degree from Oregon.

Even with the hectic schedule of the wrestling squad and academic responsibilities, Harris still finds time to spend with his daughter. He gives much of the credit of being able to balance his academic, athletic and family life to his supportive girlfriend, who "understands what a wrestler's life is like."

Harris is also appreciative of the late Dave Abraham, an Oregon assistant coach who died in May. Abraham told Harris to write down his goals, and Harris has taken this advice to heart, posting motiva-tional notes on his refrigerator and front door.

He also has made a tape that he listens to while training. The tape includes Harris's own voice encouraging himself to work hard. He said that the impact of these motivational techniques is evident during his matches.

"I don't really question myself before matches and say, 'Maybe I might lose' or 'What ifs,'" Harris said. "I just know that I am capable of winning, and I just go out and do what I can do. It just happens for me."

The Ducks next compete on Friday against UC-Bakersfield and Fresno State, where Harris can continue focusing one match at a time.

E-mail reporter Chris Cabot at chriscabot@dailyemerald.com.

Looking for a way to spring into the career you want?
Check out an internship!

The Career Development Internship Program (CDIP) Orientation for Spring Term 2002 will take place Monday, February 11, 2002, in the EMU Fir Room from 3:30-5:00 pm. Students will have the opportunity to sign up for interviews at Orientation. Make-up Orientation sessions will be held in Hendricks Hall, Room 12, on Tuesday, February 12, from 12:00-1:00 pm, and Wednesday, February 13, from 2:30-3:30 pm. Contact Jen Sowins, CDIP Coordinator, at 346-6011 for more information.

The following organizations will be looking for interns:

- | | |
|--|---------------------------------------|
| Birth To Three | Marketing/PR; Education |
| ContiNet | Science/Computer; Management |
| Convention & Visitors Association (CVALCO) | Marketing/PR |
| Downtown Eugene, Inc. | Research; Marketing |
| Eugene Family YMCA | PR/Media |
| Jacobs Gallery | Marketing/PR |
| Lane County Law & Advocacy Center | Law/Legal Services |
| Lane County Youth Services | Human & Social Services |
| Looking Glass Evaluation & Treatment Ctr. | Human & Social Services |
| Maude Kerns Art Center | Art Education; Publications |
| McKenzie-Willamette Hospital | PR/Media Relations |
| Mount Pisgah Arboretum | Environmental/Natural Resources |
| Nearby Nature | Environmental Education |
| Relief Nursery, Inc. | Youth Services; Marketing/Fundraising |
| ShelterCare | Human & Social Services |
| The Springfield News | Newspaper Reporting |
| Target | Retail |