

VIVA LA REVOLUCIÓN

Join the SEXUAL WELLNESS ADVOCACY TEAM

Work with a team of women and men to help end sexual violence through peer education, community organizing, creative arts and event planning

Interns receive 2 credits per term

DEADLINE TO APPLY IS MAY 27TH

Applications are available in the Women's Center, Suite 3, EMU

For more information call the Women's Center at 346-4095

sponsored by the ASUO Women's Center and the Office of Student Life

2002

Are You in Portland this Summer? So Are We!

You can take advantage of UO classes offered in Portland this summer. The courses are on Duckhunt (see New Courses), and you can register for them now on Duckweb just as you would any UO summer class. The courses will be held on the Mt. Hood Community College campus.

Book Your Summer in Oregon

PS 349 Mass Media and American Politics (4 credits) June 24-July 19. Monday-Thursday, 13:00-15:00.

The role of the mass media in contemporary American politics; the effect of the media on such institutions as political parties, elections, and the presidency. Medler.

PSY 375 Development (4 credits) June 24-July 19. Monday-Thursday, 15:00-17:00.

Survey of social, intellectual, and personality development. Wise.

Call Mt. Hood Community College social science department at (503) 491-7480 for classroom location and information about ordering textbooks and reading packets from the MHCC bookstore.

University of Oregon Summer Session
(541) 346-3475
<http://uosummer.uoregon.edu/>

going overseas? catch the oregon daily emerald on the world wide web: www.dailyemerald.com

Graduation

continued from page 4

The second award will be formally presented to Yasui's widow in Denver this summer. Yasui died in 1986. Strickland said that in 1939, Yasui became the first Japanese American to graduate from the University of Oregon School of Law.

Strickland said Yasui is an "American hero" who challenged the constitutionality of restrictive laws against Japanese-Americans during World War II. Yasui also helped lay the groundwork for a federal apology and reparations payments to internment camp survivors, according to a May 7 news release.

When Strickland introduced Defazio, he said the eight-term representative has made possible more than 100 scholarships for displaced workers by donating money from his congressional raises.

Defazio's remarks dealt mostly with the idea of embracing the unexpected and knowing how to position oneself to know which path is right for each individual.

When Defazio was earning his master's degree in public administration and gerontology at the University, he didn't have a career in politics in mind.

"A lucky person sees opportunity where others don't," Defazio said. "Keep your eyes open to those opportunities. But don't worry, they'll come around."

Kevin H. Kono graduated as the top student in the class. Kono won the Derrick A Bell Jr. Scholarship, the D. Ben Tesdahl legal writing award and was executive editor of Oregon Law Review, among his achievements and activities.

Olive, the class speaker, also said in his portion, "I know some of you may feel like we are spreading like seeds in the wind. But this world's not such a big place. I know our paths will cross again."

E-mail higher education editor Serena Markstrom at serenamarkstrom@dailyemerald.com.

Housing

continued from page 5

differs from previous housing codes that were proposed to Eugene councilors in 1995.

"Corvallis is not contemplating a housing code," Kelly said. "They are contemplating housing standards."

Kelly said he doesn't foresee councilor opposition to housing standards, but he does think concerns will be raised. Nonetheless, Kelly said he hopes the city will enact standards or at least begin collecting housing data by the end of the year.

"Corvallis has done a lot of our homework already," Kelly said.

University junior and Ward 3 candidate Maco Stewart said the Corvallis plan makes sense. Because the code bans specific housing infractions instead of incorporating large-scale requirements, the code protects tenants without overly complex guidelines, he said.

"It's a lot more enforceable and a lot less expensive," Stewart said.

Stewart said Eugene had a housing code about 15 years ago, but it was discarded because it proved too expensive for the city and landlords to maintain. As a Pita Pit delivery driver, Stewart said he has had access — albeit limited — to the homes of many local residents.

"It's a real problem," the political science major said. "You should see some of the conditions people are living in."

E-mail reporter Brad Schmidt at bradschmidt@dailyemerald.com.

Auto Pros Inc.
LOCALLY OWNED

LUBE, OIL, FILTER

- Chassis Lube • New Oil Filter • Up to 5 Qts.
- 10W-30 Kendall Oil • Clean Front Window
- Vacuum Front Floor Boards

$15.99

No Appointment necessary
Most light cars & trucks

3/4 or 1-ton & Extra Cab Trucks Additional

DOWNTOWN
1320 Willamette
485-2356
2975 West 11th
344-0007
OPEN Sundays
*11-4

ACTIVISTS NEEDED TODAY!
SEATTLE, WA

- FREE lodging
- FREE local transportation
- Collect signatures for state healthcare initiative

CALL NOW! (425) 783-0270

COUPON

$5.00 Off

ANY TWO DINNERS

Includes: Soup or salad and Garlic Bread. Dine in Only.

Tuesday
All You Can Eat
SPAGHETTI $3.50

Expires 5/30/02

2673 WILLAMETTE (27th & Willamette)
484-0996

2506 WILLAKENZIE (Oasis Plaza)
344-0998