SEPTEMBER 11

Everyone remembers where they were and what they were doing when two hijacked planes struck the World Trade Center, a third crashed into the Pentagon and a fourth crashed in Pennsylvania. Like the bombing of Pearl Harbor or the Kennedy assassination, the events of Sept. 11 dramatically changed many people's lives and will stand out as a key moment in history, particularly for younger generations.

SEPTEMBER 26

The nearly 18-month saga between the University and Nike CEO Phil Knight came to an end when Knight decided he would continue to help fund the expansion of Autzen Stadium.

NOVEMBER 15

In one of the more startling events of fall term, HazMat responded to a call on campus after a University science professor reported receiving a package containing a suspicious 'granular' substance. The package was later determined to be harmless.

FEBRUARY 1

The ASUO Programs Finance Committee, which handled more than $4 million in student incidental fees this year, faced a $536,000 accounting error made during fall term. The error forced the PFC to recall and cut a number of student groups' budgets already approved for next year.

FEBRUARY 7

Inclement weather swept over the Eugene/Springfield area, as 70 mph winds uprooted and shattered trees and downed power lines. The storm left about 18,000 people without power and littered the area with debris.

FEBRUARY 25

Concerns about safety on campus rose after three incidents in which a man was seen masturbating in front of female students' residence hall windows. University officials believed the same person was responsible for all three incidents.

DECEMBER

DECEMBER 2

Demolition crews began work on the Autzen Stadium expansion project. The Athletic Department, with help from state bonds and private donations, is funding the $89.7 million project, which will increase seating capacity from 41,698 to about 53,800. It is slated for completion in spring 2003.

MARCH 4

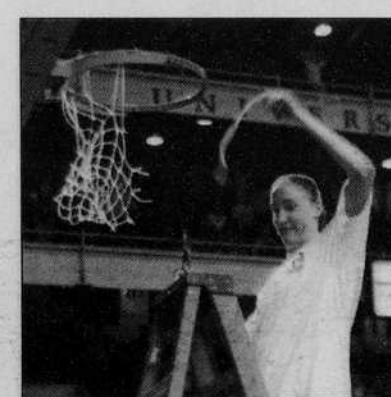

The state Legislature passed a bill permitting liquor stores to operate on Sundays. Lawmakers hoped the law would generate about $3 million in tax revenue, but many store owners said their businesses would remain closed on Sundays.

The men's basketball team shocked the Pacific-10 Conference by winning the conference title and earning the No. 2 seed in the NCAA Tournament. They won three games in the tournament before losing to top-seeded Kansas.

The women's basketball team didn't make it to the NCAA Championships, but made the most of their NIT berth by winning five games and the WNIT title.

JANUARY

JANUARY 1

The Oregon football team rose to national prominence with its Fiesta Bowl win over Colorado, ending the season with a No. 2 ranking for the first time in school history.

JANUARY 11

Safefide directors devised a plan for a transportation service, called Night Ride, for groups of students who may feel unsafe on campus but who are either uncomfortable using Safefide or are not allowed to use the service, such as gay men, men of color and transgender individuals. The new service is scheduled to begin sometime this summer.

JANUARY - MARCH

Safety on campus became a bigger issue than ever after a series of attempted assaults and an attempted armed robbery. Campus response included rallies and the formation of the Yellow Jackets, a volunteer group that patrols campus, acting as eyes and ears for the Department of Public Safety.

APRIL 5

Police arrested a University student for allegedly stealing almost $3,000 worth of women's clothing and personal belongings from three rooms in the H.P. Barnhart residence hall. The issue highlighted the issue of residence hall security and the need for residents to lock their doors.

APRIL 26

A construction crew began demolishing the remainder of Gilbert Hall's Commonwealth Bridge as part of a $40 million project to remodel and build a four-story addition to the business school. Onlookers gathered each day to watch crew members tear down about 6,000 tons of concrete, steel and brick. The Lillis Business Complex will be completed for the 2003-04 school year and will add 600 classroom seats and numerous media resources.

MAY 17

Saying that voluntary standards were being "flouted," University President Dave Frohnmayer approved new standards requiring all greek chapters to have alcohol-free housing by December in order to remain affiliated with the school. The move caused considerable controversy over whether the ban would stop existing problems or cause new ones.

MAY 20

The Oregon University System announced Richard Jarvis would take over for Joe Cox in July as the most powerful higher education official in the state. Jarvis is currently chancellor of the United States Open University, an online university system.
